Slight Improvement In Condition Of King George Noted

PHYSICIANS IN BULLETIN ARE HOPEFUL

His Majesty's Temperature Slightly Lower Today And Inflammation Out

SETBACK IS FEARED

Large Crowd at Palace Is Alarmed at Delay In Posting Daily Report

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—One of the most hopeful bulletins on the king's condition since his illness became acute was given out by his physicians today.

The bulletin said:

"The inflammation of the lung and pleura show some improvement and the temperature is on a slightly lower level.

"It must be noted that the time of possible exacerbation of the infection is not yet passed and in any case progress must be slow.

"STANLEY HEWETT.
"DAWSON OF PENN."

Sir Humphrey Rolleston, physician-in-ordinary to the king, was summoned to Buckingham palace at 10:30 a. m. for consultation with Sir Stanley Hewett and Lord Dawson of Penn.

Sir Humphrey is one of the most prominent physicians in Great Britain and has been on the royal medical staff since 1923.

It was understood that Sir Humphrey would sign the next bulletin on King George's condition.

Sir William Joynson Hicks, home secretary, came to the palace while the doctors were in consultation.

A high authority at Buckingham palace told the press:

"While there is a slight but distinct improvement in the condition of the king, today's bulletin makes it clear that the possibility of setback must not yet be ignored.

It was said at the palace that Rolleston was not summoned because the king was worse, but because Hewett and Lord Dawson considered that the time had ar-

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL HELD FOR BURGLARY

BROCKTON, Mass., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Miss Ruth Bolling, attractive 19-year-old high school senior and alleged girl burglar, was ordered held under $2000 bond for the grand jury when arraigned in court today on charges of "breaking, entering and larceny" in two counts.

Her father, City Chemist George A. Bolling, furnished the necessary bail and he and his daughter hurried from the courthouse.

The warrant for Miss Bolling's arrest was issued several days ago but was not served until she appeared in court this morning. The girl arrived here last night from New York state, where she had been recuperating from a nervous breakdown.

Miss Bolling is alleged to have been implicated in a series of burglaries in which the loot totaled thousands of dollars.

ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS SLIGHT BUSINESS DROP

Department of Commerce Finds High Economic Activity in Fiscal Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(U. P.)—Reviewing economic conditions in the fiscal year 1927-28, which ended last June 30, the Commerce Department's annual report said today the year continued the high economic activity which has been characteristic of American industry during recent years.

A slight recession noted in the latter months of 1927 was fully recovered, the report said, during the first six months of 1928. But this temporary reduction in business activity caused the indicators of business conditions to average slightly below the peak levels of 1926-27.

At the close of the fiscal year last June, the report added, business in nearly all branches was on a level "rarely if ever before attained." Volume of production and consumption for the year was "very large," unemployment was "relatively unimportant," and the real wages and standard of living of the masses of the people remained higher than anywhere else in the world, it declared.

Construction Gains

Viewing the agricultural situation as a whole, the report said, no very marked difference appears between conditions in the past fiscal year and those in the year preceding.

Total value of new construction in the United States during the year was between seven and eight billions. This exceeded the total for the year preceding by three per cent.

Volume of freight moved by the railways was about six per cent below the figure of 1926-27, which was described as an exceptionally active year in the building industry. A steady improvement in the quality of service given by the railroads was noted, and the chronic car shortages during and after the war

APRICOT PAYMENT TOTALS $750,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The California Prune and Apricot Growers' association today announced that all checks for the second payment on prunes were in the mail en route to growers.

With this payment and the second payment on apricots made last week, a distribution of more than $750,000 has been made, the announcement said.

The present season, according to officials of the association, established a record for 12 years in the early distribution of prune payments in that the association was able to make the distributions without the need of securing loans as has been the case in a number of other seasons.

COAST GUARDSMEN KILL BOAT OWNER

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Two coast guardsmen today defended their action in firing the shots which killed Carl Anderson, of Lewiston, N. Y., and seriously wounded Edmund Sahr, of Niagara Falls, early yesterday while they were cruising in Lake Ontario in a cabin cruiser thought by the coast guardsmen to be a rum runner. The boat was running without lights, but no liquor was found in it.

The coast guardsmen said they thought that the board, "The Bug," was returning to Canada after delivering a cargo of ale to the United States. They first sighted the craft a half mile off the American coast near Youngstown, N. Y.

Sen. Curtis Calls For G. O. P. Caucus

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Calls for a caucus Monday of the Republican representation in the senate were issued today by Senator Curtis, Republican floor leader.

The caucus will take up differences which have developed over the program of legislation to be followed in the short session.

GRAND JURY TO LAUNCH PROBE IN AIMEE CASE

At Same Time Angelus Temple Workers Plan to Celebrate Return

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—Angelus temple workers prepared for a four-day confidence jubilee to celebrate the return home of Aimee Semple McPherson while the county grand jury made ready today to dig again into facts surrounding her purported abduction two years ago.

"Everyone is so pleased that I'm back," Mrs. McPherson smiled, but the jury went about the business of investigating the matter of conspiracy to defeat justice charges brought against her when she reappeared with her kidnaping story.

The jury already has questioned the Rev. J. W. Arthur, financial secretary of the temple, and it was believed other officials of the Four Square gospel might go before the body today.

This same jury indicted District Attorney Asa Keyes and seven others for bribery in connection with the handling of the Julian Oil and the A. I. Lasker fraud cases. Keyes also handled the counts against Mrs. McPherson.

Mrs. McPherson, herself, appeared not to be concerned with the jury's probe.

Except for necessary attorney fees, Mrs. McPherson said she had no expenses in the case. She made a pointed denial of having paid any sum to the district attorney's office.

She said the Angelus temple

3 SHIPS RUSHING TO DISABLED STEAMER

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Three steamers early today were rushing to the aid of the distressed steamer Chief Maquilla drifting helpless in the Pacific approximately 2000 miles from Seattle, the Mackay Radio company here reported.

The Montreal Maru, Somdino Maru and Atlantic City were in the race to the stricken vessel commanded by eight white officers and a crew of Chinese. The Montreal Maru reported at 5 a. m., Pacific coast time, today, that it was 52 miles from the Chief Maquilla and would arrive around 10 o'clock this morning, according to Radio advices.

The master of the Montreal Maru ordered the Chief Maquilla to start sending red flares at 4 this morning, ship's time. The distressed vessel reported 17 feet of water in the engine room.

Student Is Killed While In Court On Charge of Murder

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30.—(INS)—A Macedonian student named Bebi was assassinated in the court room today when he was arraigned on the charge of murdering Cenz Beg, Albanian minister to Czechoslovakia. Bebi was shot by Ziu Vucitern, former servant to Beg. An Italian journalist, Del Viccio, was wounded. The whole court room was thrown into panic. Vucitern was arrested.

NORTHCOTT IS BROUGHT BACK TO CALIFORNIA

Youth Accused of Murder Of Four Boys Asserts His Innocence

BY HOMER ROBERTS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Gordon Stewart Northcott used the foregoing quotation today in referring to those who accuse him of the murder of four boys at his Riverside chicken ranch.

In what he declared was his "last interview with the press," Northcott reiterated the statement that he had been framed, and flatly denied confessing to the murder of a Mexican boy in his talk with Deputy District Attorney Earl Redwine of Riverside last night.

It was the prisoner's first and only interview with the newspapermen who accompanied him on his trip from the Canadian border, and if Northcott has his way, it will be the last.

"What possible motive could one's father have that would be so powerful as to accuse one of such unspeakable crimes?" he asked.

"I'll admit it's beyond my power of understanding. You can't plant a couple of bones and accuse a man of murder. A funny thing about this whole case is that, although I am the person the most interested, I actually know the least about it."

Northcott said he could not discuss details of his defense until he consulted with his attorney, McKinley Cameron.

"But I am satisfied that the case will never come to trial. I certainly do not expect to plead guilty to anything, and I believe a few statements I make will clear it all up in time."

"Do you have enough money to carry on your defense?" he was asked.

"I certainly have sufficient funds for any defense I deem necessary" he replied.

"What about the report that Louisa Northcott really is not your mother?"

"Ridiculous. Would you doubt your mother?"

"Then you did not kill the Mexican boy and haul his body to Puente?"

"No. I'm not a hearse driver."

"Did you ever hire a Mexican boy on your ranch?"

"I won't discuss that matter. It

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Last rites for Ira Remsen, painter and writer, who termed himself a "successful failure," were being planned today by members of this artists' colony.

A guest, invited to join Remsen at a Thanksgiving day dinner in the artists' cabin at Monterey bay, found his body with a bullet wound in the head. Remsen had committed suicide.

He is survived by a brother Dr. Charles M. Remsen of New York. The artist was the son of the late Ira D. Remsen, chemist and president of Johns Hopkins University.

S. F. STEAMER LINE HAS LOW MAIL BID

The bid was for class six vessels $2.37 per nautical mile; class five, $4; class four, $6.

The contract calls for 12 round trips a year to start and 18 round trips to be established within three years. The contract is for 10 years.

Portes Gil Is Inducted Into Office Today

New Provisional President Inaugurated at National Stadium

By GESFORD F. FINE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Emilio Portes Gil became provisional president of Mexico today before the eyes of thousands of his countrymen gathered in the National Stadium. Besides citizens, governors and militaries representing every state and territory the oath of office was administered in the view of diplomats from the principal nations and special delegations from the United States.

For both Mexico and the world-at-large the public ceremony was intended as a sign of the beginning of a true democratic, civilian rule and the end of caudillaje or power by military dictatorship. President Portes Gil, as a civilian, has promised an administration of law and order during the 14 months he will be in power until a constitutional president is elected for a six-year term.

As the successor of the retiring president, Plutarc Elias Calles, regarded as in some ways the strongest executive Mexico had had since the days of Porforio Diaz, Senor Portes Gil has behind him the support of the Callista element with its tradition of forceful and energetic rule. The political alignment that kept Calles in power for four years during a time of intense strife in the country over religious and other internal troubles is expected to back Portes Gil to the limit.

The new provisional president besides following the footsteps of Calles has also promised to fulfill the program of the late President-elect Alvaro Obregon who was assassinated by a fanatic on July 17. Had General Obregon lived, he would have been inaugurated today for a six-year term. His death compelled an entire change of plan and congress at the opening in September ordered another election scheduled for November, 1929, Portes Gil being designated as president ad interim.

Choice a Wise One

In the opinion of most authorities, the choice of Portes Gil as standard-bearer of the country over the coming difficult period was a wise

L. A. COFFEE PLANT DAMAGED BY BLAZE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Flames raging through roasted coffee chaff in the six-story building occupied by Newmark brothers, coffee importers, burst through the top floor with the force of an explosion, damaging machinery and coffee products to an estimated extent of $100,000 late yesterday.

Fire department officials believed a small spark, smouldering in the machinery for hours, may have been fanned into flame by the blower which separates the chaff from the coffee. The blaze lasted for half an hour.

Radio For Ships Seen As Result Of Vestris Disaster

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—Possibility that all good sized ships may be forced to carry radio equipment arose at today's final hearing on the Vestris disaster before U. S. Commissioner Francis O'Neill.

It was testified that the tramp steamer Montoso passed within six miles of the liner Vestris Monday morning, November 12 and was only 35 or 45 miles away when the liner sent its SOS. Had the Montoso possessed radio and received the SOS, it was said, it possibly could have gone to the rescue and taken off all passengers before the Vestris sank Monday afternoon.

George Frederick Harrison, first mate of the Montoso, said lack of radio kept his ship in ignorance of the disaster.

SENATOR BORAH OPENS FIGHT TO FORCE EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS FOR FARM RELIEF

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—A campaign to force an extra session of congress this summer is dominating the legislative situation as senators and representatives assemble today for the opening of the lame duck session of congress Monday.

The campaign was started by Senator Borah, leading campaigner for the Hoover-Curtis presidential ticket, and has spread to blocs in the senate and house in the face of objections from the nominal leaders. It has grown so steadily that the leaders now fear their legislative program may be interrupted so an extra session will have to be called.

If they choose the blocs can delay one or two appropriation bills and other necessary legislation which is vital to conduct of government business, thus compelling the calling of the extra session.

Borah said he would not be a party to such a move. He informed the United Press today he would confine his activities to public speeches advocating the extra session to obtain action on farm relief. But at the same time he expressed doubts as to whether he can get a final vote on the Kellogg anti-war treaty which he believes may have to be handled in an extra session.

The rumpus started when President-elect Hoover announced during the campaign he would provide farm relief before the next harvest and to do this he would call an extra session if this session failed to offer the necessary relief. Now Hoover is cruising in South America while his leaders are arguing what he meant by "adequate relief." One side takes the view that the newly revised McNary-Haugen bill to promote co-operative marketing will meet Hoover's demand. They are preparing to thrust this bill through in the short session, believing no extra session will be necessary. The other side led by Borah says there can be no farm relief without tariff revision and everybody knows there is not time to revise the tariff before this congress expires March 4. Therefore, they want all farm legislation to go over for a special session.

Coolidges In House As Rain Falls

SWANNANOA COUNTRY CLUB, Va., Nov. 30.—Fog and a drizzling rain forced President and Mrs. Coolidge, spending a week end holiday here, to remain indoors today.

The president and first lady arose early and departed for a wolk over the spacious grounds of the Swannanoa estate but yielded to the inclement weather shortly thereafter.

A quail hunt tentatively scheduled for today was postponed until tomorrow.

HOOVER ELATED OVER SUCCESS OF HIS VISITS

Puts Finishing Touches on Speech to Be Given In Ecuador Saturday

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

ABOARD U. S. S. MARYLAND, (via Arlington, Va., radio station), Nov. 30.—President-elect Herbert Hoover, elated over the success of his central American visits, today put the finishing touches on the speech he will deliver tomorrow when he lands at Guayaquil, Ecuador. He was interrupted, however, by the "equatorial ceremonies," which are a tradition of the sea when a ship crosses the imaginary line dividing the northern and southern hemispheres.

This ceremony consists of initiating the persons who have never before crosesd the equator, or the "Polly Wogs" as they are called by seafaring men. They are conducted under the supervision of "King Neptune"—a sailor dressed to represent the "old gentleman of the sea"—who appears with crown, whiskers and trident to see that the "Polly Wogs" are properly "ducked" in the tank on the quarter deck.

Guayaquil will be the first South American port touched by the president-elect on his good will tour of all Latin America. Mr. Hoover is looking forward with pleasure to his visits in South America and is confident that they will do much good in cementing the friendship existing between the South and North American continents of America.

Mr. Hoover has received an invitation to stop over at Arica, Chile, but has not yet made a decision.

Mrs. Hoover is enjoying the trip immensely and has made a splendid impression upon the women of Latin America by her simplicity and gracious demeanor.

Everyone on the ship had turkey for Thanksgiving dinner with all the trimmings. During the religious services on board the chap-

MEEKER IMPROVED; RECOVERY IS SEEN

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Ezra Meeker was holding a winning hand today in his fight with the grim reaper at his room in the Frye hotel. Attendants at his bedside reported the aged pioneer to be slowly regaining his strength and that hopes were being kindled for his recovery.

His pulse this morning was reported between 88 and 100, his temperature is normal and he is able to drink orange juice and water. Occasionally he makes a request for drink.

Meeker's willingness to take food and his increased interest in activities about the room gave members of his family hope that the veteran may live to celebrate his 99th birthday December 29.

CONGRESS TO HOLD INQUIRY ON VESTRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Senator Jones (R) of Washington, chairman of the senate commerce committee, announced today he would introduce a resolution next week calling for a complete investigation of the sinking of the liner Vestris, by a joint committee of congress.

The scope of the investigation, Senator Jones said, will be determined by the report of the U. S. district attorney in New York, who has been conducting the present inquiry.

11 Inches Of Snow In Denver; Chicago New Storm Center

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 30.—(INS)—While the southwest escaped a snowstorm over the holiday, the weather map in the weather bureau here today showed nine inches of snow had fallen in Omaha, 11 inches in Denver and that the storm was centering today around Chicago.

Temperatures did not drop sufficiently in the southwest, the weather bureau stated, to change rain yesterday into snow. Today was fair over the southwest.

EIGHT BOATS DAMAGED IN BLAZE TODAY

Employe of Ship Builders Firm Loses Life When He Jumps From Vessel

GASOLINE IS IGNITED

Entire Waterfront Threatened By Flames Which Break Out 10 O'clock

ONE MAN was drowned and eight small boats, three of which were speed boats, were damaged in a fire that swept a part of the water front in Newport bay at 10 o'clock this morning, causing a damage estimated at approximately $5000.

Fred Irish, 26, employe of the Newport Boat Builders, was drowned when he jumped from one of the flaming boats into the bay. He was unable to swim and drowned before other employes could reach him. The body was found almost immediately by Life Guard F. E. Barnett.

A severe abrasion on the head indicated that Irish may have struck his head when he jumped, rendering him unconscious and unable to help himself in the water, according to the theory of a physician who examined the body.

Fire is believed to have started, according to the Newport Beach police, when gasoline on the still waters of the bay became ignited by the backfire of a passing launch. The flames damaged all of the eight boats, which were huddled in a group near the pier at Twenty-Second street and Central avenue, where the headquarters for the Newport Boat Builders is located.

All of the boats were owned separately by individuals residing in Newport Beach, it was said, and all were under the supervision of the Newport Boat Builders.

The boat on which Irish was standing at the time the fire broke out, was being made ready to take to the dry docks which accounted for his presence on it, it was said by Al Sparks, of the company.

Sparks declared that so far as he knew there was no gasoline on the water, but stated that the fire probably started from a backfire from another boat.

Three of the boats were speed boats, two were fishing boats, one was a tug and the other a small skiff. All were anchored within a few feet of each other at the time. None of the boats was damaged inside, according to Sparks. The damage is covered by insurance.

Irish had been employed by the company for the past several months. He lived at Costa Mesa and is survived by his widow.

MILLER MAY GET PAROLE FROM PRISON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(INS)—Col. Thomas W. Miller, former member of congress and alien property custodian, who is now serving a sentence in Atlanta penitentiary for conspiracy to defraud the government, has been recommended for parole by the Atlanta parole board.

The board's recommendation has gone to Attorney General Sargent, who has not yet acted on it.

Miller has served about two-thirds of his sentence of 18 months.

PICKPOCKET VICTIM PLEASED; GETS $230

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Louis E. Henry, 62, of Hartland, Me., found cause for thanksgiving yesterday, despite the fact a pickpocket relieved him of $150, all his savings, on the eve of the holiday.

Newspapers told yesterday of his plight—how he had been robbed while en route to the bedside of his dying wife in California.

A few hours later, Henry began receiving contributions. One man gave him $125. Others provided smaller sums. Last night, with a broad smile on his face and $230 in his pocket, Henry boarded the Federal Express, bound for California.

Two Jailed In Raid On Old Country Club

BEER, WINE AND WHISKEY FOUND, POLICE REPORT

A Thanksgiving dancing party at the Orange County Country club, near Costa Mesa, was interrupted early last night when deputy sheriffs, led by F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, raided the place and are said to have found a quantity of liquor. Two arrests were made.

Approximately 35 persons were present at the party, half of them women, it was said.

Twenty-four bottles of beer, a half-gallon of wine and a half-gallon of whiskey were confiscated by the officers, they reported. Some of it was found in an automobile and the remainder inside the building, Howard said.

Joe T. Szarfinski, 36, golf professional at the club, and Fred McIntee, 41, service station proprietor in Newport Beach, were placed under arrest and booked in the county jail on charges of possession of liquor.

None of the guests at the club was questioned by the officers, they said, and the party went on after the officers left.

Man Sleeping In Car Charged With Reckless Driving

Sheriff's Officers Howard and Humiston, called to the intersection of the Ball and Stanton roads last night, arrested Manuel Betala, 29, Anaheim, and lodged him in the county jail.

He probably will face a charge of reckless driving this afternoon in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, it was said.

Betala was asleep in his car at the side of the road when the officers arrived, Howard reported.

books and records were open at the jury's convenience. She didn't "choose to say" whether she would go before the jury voluntarily.

The four-day jubilee, which is to start Sunday, will be an "expression of confidence" to Mrs. McPherson, a gesture which might seem unnecessary in view of the enthusiastic reception she got on her arrival here yesterday.

Some 5000 people cheered her vigorously when she appeared on the rear platform of her train and a police squadron was necessary to aid her march from the train to her automobile beneath an arch of orange and blue tassled sticks.

She spoke briefly to the crowd, stating her trip to Great Britain was one of the most successful in her 20 years of evangelical work.

one. He is believed to be one of the best qualified civilians of the country and his personal honesty and political background are considered indications that he will fill the post itelligently and capably.

As governor of the state of Tamaulipas, he was perhaps the most active state executive in Mexico. In a comparatively short administration he attained national prominence both as an agrarian and labor leader. His strength among the agrarians is said to be far greater than is generally realized, including, it is said, the control of 20,000 or more armed peasants.

Portes Gil in his inauguration address promised a lawful and responsible administration which would be guided by principles of democracy in its rule of Mexico.

"The administration will carry out its interior and exterior obligations to work for the betterment of the working classes and will live within the law in its endeavor to further the realization of ideal, logical and economic conquest of the revolution," the president said.

The coming campaign for the election of a constitutional president will be conducted without the interference of his administration and with complete freedom at all parties and the press and with individual free speech and criticism unhampered, he said.

In defining his personal position in the coming campaign, Portes Gil pointed out that he had been a member of the radical group, but did not believe that under the present circumstances, it would be proper to carry out the ends of the advanced ideas held by the party.

Although he assured a continuance of the revolutionary program, and especially the enforcement of the land and labor articles of the constitution, the president emphasized the necessity of admitting "an error when obliged by circumstances or the suggestions of friendly governments."

President Portes Gil in speaking of the relations between Mexico and the United States, referred to the work of American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow.

"The prudence and patriotism with which President Calles and Ambassador Morrow have served their respective countries have effaced perceptibly the suspicions which existed and have brought for the present a good understanding which I heartily hope will continue," the president said.

"The United States by retaining its desire to respect our sovereignty—which is something Mexico is unable to concede whatever may be the sacrifices—the people of North America may be assured that they will have no complaint against their southern neighbors."

In the labor ranks he apparently is considered also as a factor of importance. Luis N. Morones, the president of the Crom (Mexican Regional Confederation of Labor) is reported to be supporting Portes Gil. Morones, formerly secretary of industry, commerce and labor, and one of the most influential political leaders of the country resigned his post when the Labor party heads were accused of the 'intellectual authorship' of the Obregon assassination, but he still remains the leader of the Labor movement.

Religious Controversy

Owing to the shortness of his term, comparatively little of national importance is expected of Portes Gil during his administration. The task of the provisional president will be principally to preserve order during the campaign for constitutional president and to assure that the elections are according to law.

On the other hand, with his reputation for energy and hard work it is hoped that a few constructive measures in legislation can be undertaken during the next year. Without voicing their hopes too openly, it is known that Catholics will sound out the provisional president on the possibility of a settlement of the religious controversy, now two years and a half old.

A truce with Catholicism on the part of the government, it is believed, might be the beginning of a time of complete internal peace. Up to date the church problem has been the cause of a continuous open rebellion in five or six states which has never showed signs of really letting up and which remains in some respects the government's worst question, internal or external.

Whther such a truce will come before the inauguration of the constitutional president in February, 1930 is doubtful. Portes Gil, as on other matters, says he is in accord with Calles on the religious issue and his enforcement of the religious law in his own state would not seem to augur a lenient attitude toward the Catholics.

New President Described

In physical appearance, Portes Gil is of the mestizo type, with Indian lines and complexion dominant. He is short and heavy set, with a square face. His movements are quick. But his talk studied and deliberate after the manner of a lawyer. His friends say that his mind functions like that of a lawyer, the result of his legal training and experience on the bench and at the bar.

Only thirty-seven, Portes Gil appears considerably older. He does not smoke or drink and is fond of sports, swimming and horseback riding especially. He begins his day at five a. m. with exercises.

On one side of the provisional president's face are the marks of a bad powder burn, incurred in 1918. Portes Gil had arranged to act as second for a friend, Lopez de Lara in a duel with Luis Caballero. As Portes Gil stood in front of a cafe, arranged as a rendezvous, a party of Caballero's friends arrived in a motor car and suddenly opened fire, wounding both Portes Gil and Lara.

They returned the fire, however, killing one of Caballero's seconds and wounding another. For many months after Portes Gill was in a hospital in a dangerous condition.

rived when a review o fthe whole case was desirable and that they wanted a third opinion.

It was understood that the three doctors went over all the records of the king's case, carefully examining the temperature charts and other data, including X-rays and the results of the bacteriological examination made last week by Dr. Howard Whitby.

The crowd at the palace gates became alarmed at the long delay in issuing the bulletin beyond the usual hour at which it has been customery to post the morning announcement. The people crowded around the board at the gates, and the recent custom of having those in the front row read it aloud for the benefit of the others was abandoned. Everyone insisted on filing past the board and reading the bulletin personally, apparently not wishing to take second hand information.

The crowd, which had numbered only a few hundreds at midmorning, grew to a thousand at the 11 a. m. guard mount and was increased at the lunch hour by laborers, office workers, and school children. Apparently many business women walked half a mile from the west end stores to read the bulletin.

FLU SITUATION SHOWS MARKED IMPROVEMENT

Continued indications of improvement in the Orange county influenza situation were seen today when it was announced at the health department that only 151 cases of the disease had been reported for yesterday and today. It was recalled that formerly some daily reports ran as high as this figure.

With schools closed in Santa Ana and other cities of the county, it was reported today that voluntary curtailment of public gatherings was in effect in other organizations. Boy Scout troop meetings, as well as a Santa Ana Scout meeting, scheduled for next Monday, have been postponed and none will be held for at least 10 days, it was reported.

According to Dr. Ben K. Parks, assistant county health officer, telephone calls to the office regarding the influenza situation showed a decided drop today. It is hoped, he said, that the situation will be clearing up within 10 days. He pointed out that the epidemic has been mild in form here and seemed of the opinion that residents of this section have brought this state about by being careful to protect their own health and to avoid exposing others to the disease wherever possible.

THREE INJURED IN OIL WELL EXPLOSION

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Three men were fighting for their lives in a hospital here today as a result of an explosion at the Cypress No. 1 well of the Associated Oil company, near the outskirts of the city. The men are F. E. Williams, E. R. Winn and B. H. McChesney.

The men were working beneath the rigging when the fitting on a line blew out. The force of the explosion sent them careening into the pipe and drilling tools nearby, causing serious injuries.

isn't to the point, anyway. All ranches in Southern California have some Mexican workers."

"Do you have faith in your religion to carry you through this?"

"Absolutely. In this day and age a person cannot be too religious—too close to Christ."

"Where were you born and where were you educated?"

"That's another question I must decline to answer."

"Do you want your mother to come down and help you?"

"I am very anxious that she does not come down. She has committed no crime, and I think that to require such a thing of a woman her age would be too cruel."

"Would you plead guilty to all the murders to save your mother?"

"We have justice in this state, and I think such martyrdom would be uncalled for."

"Have you ever been in trouble with the law before?"

"Twice only. Once for speeding and once for reckless driving."

"Do you expect to deny or affirm any press reports in the future?"

"This will be my last statement to reporters. I think they're unfair and I have a natural repulsion for morbid news. The place for such matters is in the court."

"You read a lot, don't you? Who is your favorite author?"

"Charles Dickens. I like Shakespeare, too—but so does Gene Tunney."

"What magazine do you prefer?"

"Literary Digest and Saturday Evening Post."

"Do you think there is any parallel between your case and Hickman's?"

"No. He was a fiend and a pervert, and I am not. I am perfectly sane in every respect.

"Why do you dislike meeting reporters?"

"Because they don't write the truth. They write anything to make a good story. I have a message for them, too, but I'll bet you won't print it."

"What is that?"

"'Judge not, that ye be not also judged.'"

The interview was granted just as Northcott was nearing Los Angeles.

Deputy sheriff's who met his train at Glendale, placed him in an automobile and took him to the Los Angeles county jail.

The accused axe-murderer appeared highly erratic in his actions. One instant he posed obligingly for pictures and the next instant turned his back on photographers.

RETRIAL OF OIL COMPANY CASE OPENS TUESDAY

Retrial of one of the contested Birch Oil company cases, in which tax assessments totaling $600,000 were objected to by the oil concern, is scheduled to begin in superior court here next Tuesday.

Efforts of the representatives of the company to secure the acceptance of a compromise assessment of $100,000 by the board of supervisors failed several weeks ago and no other settlement of the case was available except recourse to the courts.

The Birch Oil company protested the assessment when it was made in 1916 and took the matter to the higher court, where it won a decision which sent the case back for retrial here. Rather than go to the expense of another court action the company and board of supervisors attempted to reach a compromise figure. The one offered by the company was not acceptable to the board.

have now been wholly done away with, it was said.

Outflow of Gold

Three outstanding developments, it continued, marked the banking and financial situation last year. Most notable was the tremendous outflow of gold. Allied with this reversal in the gold movement was the lowering in interest rates, followed by a sharp rise during the second half of the year. In the third place, remarkable activity was noted on the stock exchanges, prices of stocks in general rising rapidly.

Foreign trade in the year was marked by a continued expansion in export of manufactured goods, which have been increasing for the past seven years, the report said. Both export and import trade was active, it added, though the value of exports was slightly below the figure of 1926-27. Smaller movements of cotton and coal accounted for this decrease.

Deaths

A WORD OF COMFORT

You may level down your faith and your hopes until they are meaningless and empty of inspiration or power; this will mean the desecration of the highest and best elements in your character.

On the other hand, you may gradually and patiently tone up your thoughts and actions to the level of your ideals and into tune with the worthy traditions you received from your forefathers; this will result in the consecration of your everyday life to splendid endeavor.

It will take courage amid your sorrow, but God will insure your victory if you keep on trying.

POWERS—At his home in Costa Mesa, November 28, 1928, Freeman T. Powers, aged 90 years. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. from Smith and Tuthill's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery.

MERKELY—Mr. Albert G. Merkley, aged 46 years, of 920 South Parton street, passed away November 27. Mr. Merkley is survived by his wife, Mrs. Editha M. Merkley, and two little daughters. Services will be held from the Winbigler Mission Funeral home, Saturday, December 1, at 2 p. m., Rev. George F. Tinsley, pastor of the Christian church of Fullerton, officiating. AUTOIST ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Tom Cathcart, of 304 Ocean avenue, Huntington Beach, was arrested late yesterday by State Traffic Officers Cain and Stinson and lodged in the Huntington Beach jail on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Officers declared that Cathcart was "playing polo" with other cars on the road and succeded in forcing several of them off the road.

CLAIM CHARGE NOT DIRECTLY GRAND JURY'S

Indication that J. W. Montgomery, 55, special officer who killed John D. Callicot, 40, and Orlie R. Mahon, 40, at the California Gun club, recently, will base his case on claims of self-defense was seen today when his attorneys, L. A. West and B. Z. McKinney, moved in court that he be allowed bail. In support of the motion, West declared that the transcript of testimony before the Orange county grand jury which indicted Montgomery, showed that Montgomery had shot at the two men in defending his own life. He said that bail would not be impossible in such a situation.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, who heard the motion, set 9:30 a. m., next Tuesday, as the date for argument on the motion.

Prior to the motion, West filed a demurrer to the grand jury indictment. Montgomery was scheduled to answer to the indictment today, but entering of his plea was postponed when the demurrer was filed. Argument on the demurrer, as well as the motion for allowing bail, was set for Tuesday by Judge Ames.

Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman, appearing for the prosecution, expressed a willingness to argue the demurrer today if the court wished to hear it, but the continuance was granted in order that the prosecution could familiarize itself with the demurrer and the law regarding it.

The basis of the demurrer was the assertion that "the alleged indictment is a recitation by the district attorney that the defendant is accused by the grand jury and is not an accusation direct by the grand jury."

It was alleged further that the indictment does not contain any allegation of matters essential to be proved to establish the crime, in that it cannot be ascertained "whether the indictment charges the crime of murder or of manslaughter."

Montgomery killed Mahon and Callicot when they were poaching on gun club property, he told officers after his arrest. He said that he had shot at their dog, to scare him, and that the men immediately ran toward him, shooting. He stated that he shot once at each man, killing them both.

Butcher Severs Leg Tendon While Dressing Turkey

E. R. Urbine, of 1123 North Olive street, butcher in the Grand Central market, was severely cut yesterday when his right leg brushed against a sharp butcher knife at the side of a meat block, severing the tendon, just above the heel.

He is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, where it was said he might be confined for several weeks.

Urbine was dressing a Thanksgiving turkey, hung on a hook overhead, when he slipped against the knife.

FIREMEN RATHER PEEVED; FALSE ALARMS LITTLE TOO MUCH ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Firemen in the Cypress avenue and Eastwood avenue stations today were feverish to get their fingers on the individual who sent both departments scurrying to the corner of McClay and Fourth streets in response to an alarm turned in through a box on the corner of the two streets, last night.

The alarm was turned in at 9 o'clock and both departments responded. Arriving at the point no one was found there to direct them to the blaze and there was no evidence of a conflagration in the neighborhood.

According to John Luxembourger, fire chief investigation pointed to a motorist being to blame. It is believed that the man, or boy, who broke the glass in the fire box and pulled the lever that set gongs ringing in each fire hall drove up to the box in a machine and then drove rapidly away as soon as he had accomplished his purpose. Luxembourger said he was satisfied the alarm was not turned in by boys of the neighborhood.

RIDDLE IS HELD TO ANSWER ON GIRL'S CHARGE

Harrison H. Riddle, employe of the Hewes ranch, near Orange, was held to answer to the superior court from Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of an 11-year-old Orange girl.

Evidence in the case disclosed that the young girl became intoxicated on liquor alleged to have been supplied her by Riddle at a dance in Santa Ana on the night of October 17.

The girl in the case went to the dance with Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Holmes, of Orange, it was brought out, and the Holmes were forced to lift her from the car after the dance, it was said.

Bail in the case was fixed at $1500 when Attorney S. B. Kaufman, of the district attorney's office, told Justice Morrison that the defendant had threatened the complaining witness, the girl's father.

Serra Man Held For L. A. Police

Helario Primero, 30, of Serra, was rebooked in the Orange county jail this morning and is being held for police in Los Angeles, where he is wanted in connection with the theft of an automobile, it was said. Primero came to the jail here from the San Clemente justice court on a liquor charge and had been serving time since September 15. He probably will be taken to Los Angeles this afternoon.

Return Man And Girl From Arizona

Joaquin De Anda, 35, yesterday was returned to Orange county following his arrest, in Prescott, Ariz., where he is alleged to have eloped with a young girl after deserting his family in Placentia. The man and girl were brought to Orange county by Jailer John Petty and Mrs. Petty. De Anda will be charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girl.

Santa Fe Railway Seeks Permit To Extend Spur Line

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad today petitioned the board of supervisors for authority to construct an extension to the Irvine spur across East road and Jeffery road.

Pointing out that the new track would afford added and improved service to shippers, the petition stated that the proposed track would be constructed and operated at grade on the line proposed near Frances station.

Driver Arrested On Booze Charge

Peter O'Dowd, 53, of 1452 Pleasant avenue, Los Angeles, was arrested here yesterday by Officer Douglas Chambers, state traffic officer, on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was booked at the county jail.

ENTIRE GYPSY BAND ROUNDED UP BY OFFICERS

Sheriff's officers were kept busy for a time late last night when a band of gypsies was rounded up and brought to the county jail.

Most of the gypsies were booked as vagrants, one was booked on a charge of operating an automobile with a fake operator's license and a another was booked on a charge of failure to appear on a speed ticket.

The band, including seven men and as many women and children, was taken into custody by Jess Elliott, constable, near Orange. Elliott telephoned for help and Officers Barnhill and Buer, of the state department, aided in escorting the group to the county jail.

Thomas Miller, 22, was booked on a failure to appear charge when Elliott said he remembered him as the man whom he gave a speed ticket on November 8, in La Habra. He had not appeared, although scheduled to report on November 14, the officer said.

Dick George, 25, was booked on a charge of operating a machine with a fictitious operator's license and the following were booked on vagrancy charges:

Joe George Mitchell, 22; William Ephrem; George Mitchell, 57; John Mitchell sr., 60, and John Mitchell, jr., 22.

Two Santa Ana attorneys were summoned by the women members of the band and were told, it was said, that two Chicago women wished them to aid their husbands, lodged in jail on minor charges involving the motor vehicle act.

Bail was arranged for the entire band and the members were discharged soon after being booked. All of them were to appear in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

20 Students Make Airplane Flights

Twenty students of the Orange high school were pasengers in planes at the Eddie Martin airport, at the end of South Main street, this morning. The students, all boys, are members of an Air club at the school. They were taken over Santa Ana, Newport Beach and along the ocean in a series of spins.

POULTRY MEN WILL DISCUSS ORGANIZATION

Hatcherymen and poultry breeders of Orange county will meet at 7:30 p. m., today, in the farm bureau offices, to discuss plans for organization of an accredited breeders' and hatchers' project in this county, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

It is expected that a chairman and secretary for the organization will be chosen. W. C. Childers, chairman of the poultry department of the farm bureau, will preside. It is understood that parts of San Diego and Los Angeles counties are desirous of forming part of the district should the organization be formed.

It has been proposed to change the organization of the Seven Southern Counties Accredited Breeders' and Hatchers' project by dividing it into smaller units. Orange county now forms a part of that organization. The value of smaller units is said to lie in the possibility of reducing expenses through administration of smaller areas.

The work throughout the seven counties would continue to be coordinated, Cory said, through a board of control, composed of representatives from each district. The organization, with this board as its head, would be known as the Southern California Accredited Chick association. It is expected that the other counties will take action similiar to that planned for tonight's session here.

Inspectors for the projects would be appointed by this board of control and would be paid by the districts in which they worked, according to Cory. Rules would be adopted by the board of control and referred to the districts for approval. There now are two inspectors for the project, one of whom is Will Hatch, of Tustin.

NANKING POWER IS MENACED BY LABOR GROWTH

By D. C. BESS

PEKING, Nov. 29.—The Nationalist government of China is menaced on two "fronts" on the one hand by the warlords with their soldiers, on the other by the labor unions who rose to great power in 1927, fell again, and are now rising once more. Nanking has used both persuasion and force to keep two dangers in abeyance.

Fortunately for the government, the warlords and the labor unions show no disposition to get together. The old-style militarists have no patience with the labor leaders, and are curbing their growth as much as they dare. The unions, too are growing very cautionsly because they fear the warlords will crush them.

During recent weeks, the militarists have been ostensibly more amenable to the government's orders than the labor unions. The latter have tested their strength on several occasions, but have not gotten far, because the military men have assisted the government in suppressing them. Here in Peking, the struggle between the militarists and the labor unions is very apparent.

Marshal Yen Hsi-shan forbade the unions to organize when he took over North China last June. But Nanking countermanded this order, and the unions entered a period of feverish activity, enlisting some 100,000 men and women in a few weeks. Then Marshal Yen decided the matter had gone far enough, and ordered the unions disbanded. The government did not interfere with Marshal Yen's action, and today the unions are weakened but their leaders still are defiant. Unions are permitted, but their activities closely watched and checked.

Organization Proceeds

The organization of labor unions, and similar organizations among farmers and unskilled laborers, has proceeded steadily in spite of military opposition, and some Chinese observers believe the unions are now a greater menace to the Nanking government than the warlords. The workers in China have no voice in the government, except those few among them who are members of the Kuomintang. They feel that conditions are not improving as rapidly as they might, and that the workers can only obtain their just due by organizing. The unions are being encouraged by thousands of former politicians who lost their jobs by the rise of the Nationalist government, and by those occasional Communist agitators who dare show themselves in the north.

The leaders at Nanking, however, are fully aware of the danger these unions present. They have seen the unions attempt to seize the government at Hankow and Shanghai, and come perilously close to success. While the Kuomintang theoretically encourages organized labor, the party leaders now in control are cautious, and do not feel that the workers can be permitted to usurp normal functions of government, as they have attempted to do on more than one occasion.

So long as the warlords now supporting the Nanking government, do not quarrel among themselves and resume civil wars, the labor unions are not likely to stage an effective revolt. But if and when the militarists fall out among themselves, the unions will be an important factor in the outcome, as they were in the military successes of the Nationalist armies. There is good evidence here that the unions are being steadily organized, more rapidly than is apparent, and that a larger portion of the workers are being enrolled.

North China is a virgin territory for such organizations. The old style warlords who formerly ruled suppressed any attempts of this sort with violence. The Nanking government is opposed in principle to such suppression by violence, and it is certain that since last June labor unions have gained a strength in North China which they have not had before. If this movement continues, the laborers may gain an irresistible power, as soldiers are likely to sympathize with them.

WORK WITHOUT PAY

ATHENS, O., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Employes of this city must work the rest of the year without pay. That is because there are no funds with which to meet the payroll.

The city attorney has taken the matter up with state officials, but the state has ruled there is no way by which the city's financial situation can be bettered.

Those affected are the mayor, city auditor, clerk, councilmen, policemen and firemen. The shortage is due partly, it was said, to lack of payments in fines and licenses.

MAN SUFFERING T. B., LOSS OF MEMORY FOUND

A strange case of lost memory presented itself to Orange county authorities today with the finding of a man in Anaheim who said he was James Costello, 23, address unknown. He was found sitting on the curb with a raw tomato in one hand and a raw potato in the other.

The man knew his name, but nothing else, according to the Anaheim police, who removed him to the county hospital. He said he was lost and was seeking his mother, but could not give his mother's name or her address.

His condition is serious, according to hospital attendants, who said he was in the last stages of tuberculosis. When found Costello was suffering from badly swollen feet and hands, as if he had walked a long distance.

During his conversation with police officers he mentioned Norwalk, but officers were unable to learn where he came from or where he was going. An investigation of the case is being made this afternoon.

COURSE TO BE GIVEN IN S. A. ON APPRAISALS

Plans have been completed for organization of a class to study appraisals under the course arranged by the University of Southern California, it was announced by J. Wiley Harris, chairman of the educational committee, at the meeting, today, of the Santa Ana Realty board.

The first meeting of the class will be held at 7:30 p. m., December 10, in room 2, junior college building. A leader of the class will be chosen at that time, Harris said.

Harris said the class would meet once a week for 18 weeks and that it would be addressed by men recognized as authorities on property appraisals.

A piece of property cannot be purchased or sold, financed or insured, without giving it some definite valuation," Harris said, in stressing the point that the appraisal course is designed to teach the fundamentals entering into consideration in attempting to place valuations on property.

Pointing out that in the last few years much has been learned about the method of estimating eral estate values, Harris said it is no longer necessary to grope and guess on property values.

Membership in the class is not limited to men engaged in the real estate profession.

lain prayed for the recovery of King George.

The Maryland crossed the equator just before noon. Mr. Hoover, who had been "invited" to witness the ceremonies, was escorted to the "royal throne" above the forward gun turret. He was much amused to be introduced to "King Neptune," whose whiskers were made from shredded rope.

The "king," in private life, is Capt. Tesar, of Washington D. C., chief turret captain.

The "king's subjects" proved a motley crew in comic opera attire consisting of silk hats, pajamas, canes, gloves, white duck trousers and other odds and ends. Mingled with them were "pirates" and barefooted, shirtless sailors along with "mermaids." The ship's band played a funeral dirge for the benefit of the "polly wog" victims. As the "indictments" against the "polly wogs" were read the ship's siren and whistles shrieked.

The solemnity of the court was somewhat interrupted by the groveling of the couriers. The "accusation" against John Griffin Moot, of Los Angeles, a friend of the president-elect, was "loitering on the Mack Sennett studio lot in Hollywood"—a location noted for its bathing beauties.

Secretary Service, of the Hoover staff, was charged with "acting like Mary Pickford in Texas Guinan's night club in New York."

A photographer was ducked in the quarterdeck tank twice for "jazzing on a portable phonograph of the ship's deck."

Miles D. Timmons, of Boston, captain of the Maryland's football team, was the "royal chief of police," he was togged up like a figure from a Gilbert and Sullivan opera.

As a prelude to the equatorial rites the entire night was made riotous with "polly wogs" being dragged from their bunks and hammocks shrieking in mock alarm.

The "shell backs—those who have crossed the equator before—raged through the ship waving non-fire torches and crying: "Bring out the victims."

There were 800 "polly wogs," including Allan Hoover, son of the president-elect, and many members of the Maryland's crew of 1300. Of the crew 230 were "shellbacks" and it was their day on shipboard. One "polly wog" seaman was dragged about unceremoniously when he resisted the "police."

Followers of King Neptune described a "polly wog" as a "low worm" but several degrees above a civilian landlubber.

The ship's canteen was closed with the following sign upon the door: "No business today. This miserable worm is in the brig in which there is room for one more—maybe you."

The weather was calm, which was about the only thing in favor of the "polly wogs" and the "landlubbers."

The decks were cleared at sunrise for this quaint and colorful ceremony, old in the traditions of the navy.

Postpone School Board Conclave

A postponement was announced today for the meeting of the Santa Ana board of education and citizens advisory committee with representatives from the Newport harbor section, which was scheduled for tonight, when the school housing problem was to have been discussed.

Illness of two members of the board, Dr. John Ball, president, and Mrs. J. Dick Wilson, made it advisable to continue the session until next Tuesday, which was set as a tentative date.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT: SEEK HIT AND RUN DRIVER

Brea police today were seeking the driver of an automobile which last night knocked down Alfred Smith, 35, of Olinda, causnig serious injuries.

Smith was taken to the Fullerton General hospital, where he was treated for a broken shoulder and severe cuts about the head. His injuries will not prove fatal, it was said.

Smith was found lying at the side of the road near East First street, Brea, on the Olinda road, by a passing motorist who notified Chief Williams. Williams took the injured man to the hospital.

Broken glass, apparently from an automobile headlight, together with part of a broken lock were found near the place where Smith was lying and officers are using these as a clew to the driver of the car which they claime failed to stop and render aid.

EELS STOP WHEELS

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The town of Montrevel, near the Swiss border, has just been the scene of a general holdup in which the culprits were eels.

It happened during the recent floods which laid waste much of the countryside. The eels were swimming lazily down river when the torrent caught them and threw them in hundreds into the turbine of the electricity generating station on the outskirts of the town. They clogged the vanes of the turbines. The turbines slowed down, all the lights went out, tramways stopped and nearly all activity ceased. Engineers worked for days to free the turbines from minced eel.

YULE TREES TO BE PLACED ON MAIN STREETS

ANAHEIM, Nov. 30.—Following a program outlined some weeks ago and which promises to materialize shortly, this city will present a holiday appearance with the streets of the city decorated with Christmas trees and colored lights during the Yuletide season.

According to present plans a tree about 10 feet in height, strung with lights and gay decorations, will be placed in front of each store in the business district. The district to be so decorated will extend from Philadelphia street to Helena street on Center street between Broadway and Sycamore on Los Angeles street.

The city of Anaheim and the members of the Merchants and Manufacturers association are cooperating in the decorative idea. The city is to furnish the lights and electricity for them every night from the time they are installed until Christmas.

The number of trees is expected to be about 200, 64 of which have already been paid for, according to C. R. Nelson, president of the association. The cost of each tree is to be $8.

Fraternal organizations are expected to co-operate by placing trees in front of their buildings and residents have been urged to decorate trees in front of their homes.

The scheme is a part of the general plan for Southern California sponsored by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to call attention to this part of the state.

WHEN RIVER WENT ON RAMPAGE IN KANSAS CITY

Millions of dollars in damages was wrought when a seven-inch rainfall raised Kansas and Missouri rivers out of their courses. The scene at the top is a street in Kansas City, Mo., where the Blue river rose to an unprecedented level. Firemen and police became boatmen and rescued scores who were stranded in their homes without food or heat. In the picture below firemen are shown bringing a boat "to shore" with refugees.

NUMBERS FOR ALL HOMES AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—Notices to house holders, whether owners or tenants, are being mailed by City Engineer A. J. Stead notifying them of the number to place on the house, the position in which it is to be placed, and other information concerning numbering.

The city council adopted an ordinance several weeks ago requiring the engineer to do this. It requires houses to be properly numbered with figures not less than three inches in height within 60 days after notification of the house number has been given.

Until action was taken, strangers have had to search for houses bearing fanciful but not helpful names instead of numbers, located on streets which even the oldest inhabitants could not always locate. The council expects to make provision for placing signs on the streets as soon as finances permit. de Perlema.

ALLEGED BAD CHECK PASSER BOUND OVER

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—H. K. Brown pleaded guilty before Justice C. C. Cravath Wednesday and was turned over to the superior court for giving R. D. Lippincott, alleged bad checks, and then covering them with additional bad checks, given in payment for car repairs made on a car not his own.

Brown showed an army discharge which stated he had served three years 96 days in the aviation service, three years of it in France, and that 33 direct hits were credited to him in the war.

Lippincott and Chief of Police Abe Johnson learned of the whereabouts of Brown and took him into custody a week before the trial, lodging him in the county jail. Brown said that he had been promised the check would be covered by a friend.

Why Modern Women Cook With Gas

It Is Clean and Convenient

There is no smoke, dust or dirt in the use of a modern gas range. Meals may be prepared while wearing your party frock. And the modern ranges are so convenient in their appointments that drudgery and cookery are no longer synonymous.

It Is Dependable and Cheap

There is no delay in the use of a modern gas range. Simply turn a lever, light the flame and you may begin cooking at once. Think this over—you get more heat per dollar with natural gas than with any other fuel.

It Is Ready Any Time, Instantly

For an early breakfast or a midnight lunch,—at any hour of the day or night—natural gas is there ready to serve you quickly. There is no waiting because of a cold stove when you cook with gas.

LEGION POST PLANS NEW YEAR'S DANCE

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—Arrangements have been made by American Legion Post No. 222 to give a New Year's eve costume ball in the Cabrillo ball room the night of December 31.

The Legion has taken early action so as to be assured of the hall and of the music desired for the occasion. Joe Sanford's 7-piece band is to furnish the music.

A dance given Hallowe'en by the Legion was a social and financial success, netting a substantial sum. A card party given this month was also financially helpful in adding to the fund which is being raised to finish the Legion hall, being made a two-story building on Legion street.

GOVERNMENT'S COST REVEALED BY CONTROLLER

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Father California nearly had a stroke of apoplexy here today, when State Controller Ray L. Riley presented him with the bill for operating the state government last year.

"Whew," said Old Man California, "This governing business is getting to cost something awful. This is more than $4,000,000 over what I paid last year. It totals $91,812,716.74—what a bill!"

"Right you are," said Riley. "But look how your family is growing. More people, more institutions, more schools.

"Take schools, for example. Education costs ran up to $33,733,506.65, or a gain of $2,370,185.14 over the preceding year. This represents the increase for your state department of education, elementary and high schools, junior colleges, state university, and Chico, Fresno, Humboldt, San Diego, San Francisco, San Jose and Santa Barbara Teachers' colleges School for Dear and Blind, textbooks, teacher pensions and the California School Code Commission."

"Administration government depleted the state's finances by a total of $29,749,383, which means you must dig down in your pockets for the gain of $3,556,518 over the preceding year."

The total costs of government by functions, with a few agencies to illustrate each function, were given by Riley as follows:

Legislative, $80,504.49 — Legislature, council bureau, etc.

Judicial, $958,720.35 — Supreme court, appellate courts, judicial council.

Executive, $51,283.66 — Governor, lieutenant governor.

Administrative—$2,409,441.73—Department finance, state controller, treasurer, attorney general, motor vehicle division.

Regulative— $2,681,208.06 — Railroad commission, superintendent of banks, boards of medical examiners, etc.

Defensive, $289,916.50 — National guard and high school cadets.

Constructive, $14,254,293.12— San Francisco harbor commission, University buildings, department public works.

Development, $3,202,422.23— State Agricultural society, mining bureau, departments of agriculture and natural resources, fair premiums.

Protective, $1,017,051.45 — Board of forestry, state parks, etc.

Benevolent, $961,166.34 — Veterans' Home, Home for Adult Blind, etc.

Curative, $5,465,647.14— Departments of Institutions and Public Welfare, State Insane hospitals, etc.

Corrective, $791,122.07—Whittier, Preston, Ventura state schools.

Redemption of bonds, $1,825,000.

Interest on bonds, $3,899,247.50.

Miscellaneous, $14,551,032.84.

Emergency fund, $144,735.37.

WOMAN HURT WHEN TRUCK TURNS OVER

Mrs. L. Miller, 1541 West Fifty-Eighth street, Los Angeles, was injured last night, on the Irvine boulevard, when the truck, on which she was riding with her husband, overturned. She was taken to her home.

According to an accident report, filed at the sheriff's office by F. G. Yoder, state traffic officer, who made an investigation, Miller drove off the road when he attempted to pass another machine.

Mrs. Miller was not believed to have been badly hurt.

'FLU' CAUSES ELKS TO CANCEL MEETING

The annual memorial services for departed members will not be held Sunday night by Santa Ana lodge, No. 794, B. P. O. E., according to announcement today by E. R. Majors, secretary.

Majors said that it was the desire of the Elks to co-operate in every way possible with authorities engaged in attempts to blot out the epidemic of influenza and that the ceremonies scheduled for Sunday night would not be held because of the "flu" situation in the city.

WINTERSBURG TRIO ARRESTED IN RAIDS

George and Tom Tunstall, Wintersburg men, today were in the county jail awaiting a hearing in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court on a charge of possession of liquor.

They were arrested yesterday by F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, and several other deputies when a small amount of liquor was said to have been found in their home.

In the same raid officers arrested Mrs. Blanche Addington, Wintersburg, and lodged her in the county jail. A small amount of liquor also was found in her home, it was said. It was Mrs. Addington's second arrest on liquor charges.

The three probably will be arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today, Howard said.

Court Notes

L. A. Stevenson today had brought suit against Rose V. Stevenson seeking to have property in Orange and Laguna Beach declared community property. None of the property was acquired before their marriage in 1905 by either, the complaint stated. They did not intend to change its community nature by taking title and deeds as joint tenants, the complaint set forth.

Orange county today had brought suit against William O. Edwards Sitzman and Pauline Sitzman, seeking to condemn, for highway purposes, property in Buena Park.

The will of the late Hester M. Griffin, who died November 11, in Anaheim, was filed for probate today. The estate was valued at $8900. Orange county heirs named were Stella Griffin, Henry H. Griffin and Jay Griffin, of Anaheim. The heirs have named Jay Griffin executor, the petition said.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Fannie M. Hasty, who died November 15, in Santa Ana, were applied for today by Frank L. Hasty, who is the sole heir, according to the petition. The estate was valued at not over $10,000.

Information charging Archie Jackson with forgery was filed in superior court today. H. C. Head was appointed by the court to represent Jackson. Arraignment was set for 9:30 a. m., December 4.

Charging Albert Hoffman with desertion and failure to provide, Ella Hoffman today brought suit against him for divorce. The complaint said they were married in 1918 and separated in 1927.

ARIZONA WILDCATS WIN OVER WHITTIER

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 30.—(UP)—The University of Arizona Wildcats brought their season to a close with a 28 to 7 victory over the Whittier (Calif.) college football team here yesterday.

The Wildcats took advantage of costly fumbles by the poets. The Californians fumbled three times in the first half and Arizona recovered on each occasion, converting two of the bobbles into touchdowns.

Arizona made 22 first downs against Whittier's 14.

The Notre Dame football squad witnessed the game.

TIGERS SEEK EDUCATION

BOMBAY, Nov. 30.— (UP)—Mary's Little Lamb is completely outclassed. A large Bengal tiger walked unconcernedly into the hall of the government English High School in Chaibassa, Orissa. A railway officer was summoned and killed the beast with a rifle. The tiger's skin now hangs on the schoolroom wall.

NEW YORKERS WIN FAST HOCKEY TILT

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The New York Rangers returned to the top rung of the National Hockey league last night with a 2 to 1 victory over the Chicago Blackhawks. The Rangers came from behind in the last five minutes of the game to tie the score. They counted the winning point in the overtime period.

Detroit and Montreal fought to a 1 to 1 draw at Detroit and Les Canadiens and Pittsburgh reached a similar score at Montreal. Both of these games were fast and hotly contested but in both cities the opponents were perfectly matched.

Nearly 30,000 persons saw the contests.

ECHO GIVES HEIGHT

PARIS, Nov. 30.—A new instrument, capable of recording the altitude of airplanes to within one foot of the ground, has been installed on French aircraft. The instrument is for use in foggy weather. An arrangement under the plane makes a series of explosions. Electric sound detectors pick up the echo from the ground and the height of the plane is gauged therefrom.

HALLOWE'EN PRANK

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 30.—Although the colorful deed wasn't laid to a Hallowe'en jamboree, the nearness of the season caused Steve Koren to believe witches had been abroad again. He went out to his barn to find three of his horses painted blue, green and red, while seven of his 12 saddle horses were striped all colors of the rainbow.

WOMAN LEAVES 1,000 BEDS IN UNIQUE ESTATE

NEENAH, Wis., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Auctions are clearing 11 buildings in Neenah of old furniture accumulated by the late Mary Lucetta Edgarton, 75, over a 20-year period. Her estate contained 30 pianos, 50 organs, 1000 beds and a vast amount of other things, all of little value.

The furniture buyer once had a fortune of more than $50,000 but spent most of the money following her hobby. From time to time she would determine to sell her "antiques" but when the day of the auction came and she could not obtain the prices she thought they merited she would return them to their storehouses.

Until she moved into a hotel room about a year ago she lived in a house so packed with furniture, old oil lamps, dishes and other odds and ends that visitors had to squeeze through small spaces and step over debris to reach her. Pianos were buried under piles of pictures, lamps, chairs and other things. One room of her rickety house was jammed with 20 couches set on end.

PAINTINGS BY BEACH ARTISTS PURCHASED

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—The Laguna Beach Art gallery has sold John Collidge's painting, "Summer Afternoon," to Mrs. Aldrich, of Los Angeles.

Among visitors to the art gallery this week who are well known in the art world were Henri d'Arles, laureate of the French Academy of Paris; St. John O'Sullivan, who accompanied him; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Henry of the Adobe studio of Capistrano, and Mrs. Aldrich, art patron, of Los Angeles.

Paintings by W. G. Doss and Lillian P. Ferguson were sold recently to persons in this vicinity. Both are members of the local art association.

Miss Virginia Woolley, who has been in Georgia for several months but who stopped over in Taos, New Mexico, on her way home, is telling local friends about the Taos art colony and the quaint Indian village. Many noted artists have studios there, and she met several who have attained nation-wide fame.

Mrs. Ida Randall Bolles, member of the Laguna Beach Art association, and resident artist, spoke before the Anaheim Parent-Teacher association on art when the traveling art exhibit furnished by the Laguna artists was in that city last week.

TECHNICIANS LEAVE SMALL SOVIET TOWNS

By EUGENE LYONS
United Press Staff Correspondent

MOSCOW, Dec. 1.—The thousand technical specialists are listed among the unemployed by the Soviet Labor Bourse at the same time that the country is struggling with the problem of insufficient technical personnel.

This apparent contradiction is explained by the circumstances that the unemployed specialists are in Moscow, Leningrad, Kharkov and other large cities, while the unfilled jobs are in the coal-fields of the Donetz Basin, in the oil-fields of the Caucasus and other even more unattractive provincial places.

The Labor Bourse in Leningrad alone lists 1,800 unemployed specialists; Moscow has at least as many and other cities show corresponding figures. The majority of these unemployed are young graduates of the technical schools, who apparently prefer privation in the city to a job and a regular salary in the province.

Three-quarters of the new graduates, a Soviet newspaper points out, refuse to accept positions away from the cultural advantages of the urban centers. Higher wages and other inducements do little to overcome their distaste for life in the country.

A Real Problem

The situation represents a real problem, the acuteness of which is emphasized by the desperate need for skilled industrial leadership. A Soviet statistician has figured out that the technical personnel in the U. S. S. R., in proportion to the number of workers employed, is about three times less than in Germany; in the coal and chemical industries it is six times less.

The crop of new engineers and other specialists from the Soviet technical schools is the prime hope of the Soviet Union in meeting its need for specialized leadership. If these graduates, however, persist in turning down places away from the cities, the hope is far from being fulfilled.

In addition to these registered unemployed, there are doubtless hundreds more who have not placed their names on the list of the jobless, having accepted positions as office workers or store clerks rather than leave the urban life.

It is generally known that a similar situation exists in relation to physicians here. While villages and provincial towns beg and clamor for doctors, thousands of them—especially young ones—are looking for work in Moscow, Leningrad, etc.

These modern days, business needs lots of "pepping up." The Register Classified Ads furnish the right dope. Phone 87.

PLACENTIA PASTOR TO DISCUSS REVIVAL

PLACENTIA, Nov. 30.—Whether or not the revival is needed in the church will be one of the topics discussed by the Rev. C. E. Fuller, pastor of Calvary church, Placentia, at the Sunday morning service.

The pastor has chosen for his topic, "Kindling the Fires" and in the course of his talk will discuss, "Is the Revival Worked Up or Prayed Down?" and "What Constitutes a Revival?"

In the evening the subject will be "No More." The congregational singing will be accompanied by the orchestra. Of especial interest is the announcement that Miss Olive Gale, of Yorba Linda, will sing several selections.

The baptismal service, which was postponed last Sunday, will be observed Sunday evening.

ARMY-STANFORD READY FOR BIG GAME

Mythical Midwestern Eleven Is Selected

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

A scribbler asked Rogers Hornsby for an anecdote giving the funniest experience he ever had in baseball . . . And Hornsby snubbed him by saying, "Baseball has never been funny to me." . . . Referring to the courage of his star halfback, Knute Rockne said—"That Niemiec is all tape and guts." . . . Judge Wally Steffen, coach of Carnegie Tech, admits that Howdy Harpster, his quarterback, is great. . . . "But Stuhldreher was the greatest quarterback that ever lived," he said. . . And Steffen wisecracked that Carnegie beat Notre Dame because the Scotch line wouldn't give. . . Carnegie is supposed to be a Scotch school. . . . But the names of the players aren't any more Scotch than Notre Dame's are Irish. . . . Dud Hormel, one of the N. Y. U. fullbacks, weighs only 120 pounds. . . . And they call him "Whippet." . . . Columbia obliged the prisoners in the press box who like to have the players numbered . . . By putting white numbers on a white background. . . . Crabtree, one of the great big stars in the Florida backfield, is called "Cannonball." . . . And he comes from Cicero, Ill. . . . where the pineapples grow.

TOUGH ON THE OLD MAN

In the wee small hours the morning of the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game there was much making merry in one of the hotels in South Bend. The Notre Dame boys on one side of the court were throwing fast cracks across into the windows of the Carnegie Tech boys and there was much fun.

One little Notre Dame fellow, obviously a freshman and a very young one was making the most noise when a deep bass voice boomed from a window on the top floor.

"Why don't you shut up and go to bed?"

And the little Notre Dame freshman, and a very young one, didn't take a minute to reply in a voice almost as loud:

"I can't go to bed. I'm waiting up for my little boy."

GIVE THEM PAPER DOLLS

Dr. Wade C. Harker of Chicago, was one of the experts named by the Illinois Boxing commission to examine boxers suspected of being punch drunk.

And the doctor pulled a classic line after he had watched some of his associates on the committee test the sanity of some of the suspects by having them play with blocks.

"It isn't the boxer who is crazy," he said. "It is the customer who pays $16.50 to see some of the bows who needs a mental test."

IT'S A SWELL WORD

There was some complaint about the harshness of the term "punch drunk" when it was used in the presence of a fighter who had been called in to prove that he was not all goofy.

One of the worthy doctors on the examining board insisted, however, that it was a good and proper term.

"Supposing," he said, "that we told one of those boys that he had a petechial hemorrhage in the cerebellar cortex? He would worry himself silly and his whole career would be ruined."

SOLD HIMSELF GOOD

Slick work by magnates in the attempt to pass him around under cover meant a nice little pile of $25,000 to Dick Ferrell, a young man who was a catcher with the Columbus American association club last season.

It seems that Detroit sent Ferrell to Columbus to keep under cover and when time came for the draft, John McGraw put in a claim for him. Columbus balked, saying that Ferrell was not subject to the draft as he had not been in the major leagues and McGraw

MINNESOTA HAS THREE PLAYERS ON STAR TEAM

United Press All-Western Conference Eleven

End—Fessler, Ohio State.
Tackle — Pommerening, Michigan.
Guard — Gibson, Minnesota.
Center — Randolph, Indiana.
Guard—Wagner, Wisconsin.
Tackle—Nowack, Illinois.
End—Haycraft, Minnesota.
Quarter—Hovde, Minnesota.
Half—Bennett, Indiana.
Half—Glasgow, Iowa.
Fullback—Holmer, Northwestern.

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—The close race for the championship of the Western Conference this season is reflected in the "All Big Ten" football team for 1928, named today by the United Press upon the recommendation of 20 coaches of the middlewest who have watched these players in action.

Eight of the 10 teams in the conference are represented on the United Press team, Minnesota, despite two defeats, placing three men on the mythical eleven.

The "All Big Ten" team for 1928 is declared by the coaches and officials who contributed their opinions to be a worthy successor to those named in the past.

Freddy Hovde, Minnesota quarterback, led the big ten individual scorers, making nine touchdowns for a total of 54 points. He was one of the best all round backs of the year.

Bennett of Indiana was a hard hitting halfback who caused untold difficulty to his conference opportunities with his smashing drives and twisting runs.

Glasgow of Iowa would make him an ideal running mate. It was Glasgow who stepped in to prove as good a halfback as there was in the middlewest towards the end of the season, after the fame of Chief Mayes McLain, the vaunted Hawkeye fullback, had dwindled somewhat.

Holmer of Northwestern, highly recommended by every conference coach completes a backfield which would take a lot of stopping.

Only two "Big Ten" teams failed to land men on the United Press eleven. Purdue had "Pest" Welch, a great back, who ranked right up with those selected, but Chicago had no one this year, the Maroons losing every conference game they played.

Other great backs of the Conference were Lusby of Wisconsin, of whom Knute Rockne spoke with warm praise, Chief McLain and Cuisinier, the clever Wisconsin quarterback, one of the brainiest field generals in the midwest. Barratt of Ohio and Conry of Wisconsin were great centers who were just nosed out by Randolph.

Fessler of Ohio State was one of the greatest ends in the country this year, a wing man of extraordinary ability who could do just about everything required and do it well. His tackling, covering of punts, and receiving of passes was said by critics to be close to perfection for fine play. Haycraft of Minnesota was unanimous choice of Big Ten coaches for the other wing position.

Of the year's great tackles, no matter what the section of the country, Pommerening of Michigan stood out. This powerful linesman, strong as a bull on the defense, could drop back and throw forward passes with the best of the backs when the occasion warrants.

Nowack of Illinois, chosen last year for All American honors by a number of experts, lived up to his reputation this season and helped the Illini to repeat their triumph of 1927 after one of the closest races in conference history.

Gibson of Minnesota was declared by every coach and official who saw him play to be a "really great guard." Conference coaches with great guards of their own to recommend yielded the palm to the Gopher linesman.

Wagner of Wisconsin placed at the other guard position on the United Press team, was not far behind Gibson in the general excellence of his line play. Wagner was a tackle who combined the drive, power, stamina and speed which would make him an ideal guard.

Randolph of Indiana was one of the great roving centers of the 1928 gridiron season, a player who was all over the field, backing up the six man Hoosier line and covering punts with the ends.

COLGATE ELECTS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 30.—(INS)—John Cox, of Steubenville, Ohio, will lead the Colgate football team next year. He was elected captain after the game with Brown here yesterday, in which he played center.

CARDINAL ELEVEN OUT TO SHOW EAST WAYS OF FOOTBALL

There's no rest for the weary—Army now prepares for the coming of a tricky, powerful Stanford eleven.

Football fans of the east, some 90,000 of them, will get their first glimpse of a Pop Warner-coached Stanford eleven when the Stanford and Army elevens wind up their football programs tomorrow at the Yankee stadium in New York.

The West Pointers close one of the hardest schedules ever attempted by a college football team with this game, a schedule that included games with Southern Methodist, Yale, Harvard, Notre Dame and Nebraska, all teams worthy of any foe.

Stanford, eliminated from the Pacific coast title race early in the year by Southern California, has, nevertheless, one of the most powerful teams in the section. Warner has an eleven boasting speed, smartness, and deception in its attack and a well-balanced defense.

He has a number of individual stars who rank with the best in their positions. These include "Biff" Hoffman, captain and fullback; Robesky and Post, guards; Heinecke, center, and Lewis and Fleishhacker, backs.

To the far westerners, the game affords an opportunity of convincing eastern critics that the game of football they play in their section is as good as it is in the east.

NEW YORK U IS DEFEATED BY OREGON AGGIES

The surprise victory of the Oregon Aggies over the Violets of New York University and Kentucky's unexpected strength in holding the powerful Tennessee football team to a scoreless tie were the outstanding features of an interesting Thanksgiving Day football program.

The Aggies, unheralded, came east from the Pacific Coast to administer a humiliating defeat to one of the most powerful elevens in the east, 25 to 13.

Georgia Tech continued its winning stride with a 51 to 0 victory over Auburn. Florida fared as well, smothering Washington and Lee, 69 to 6.

In the East, Syracuse ended its season with a 14 to 6 win from Columbia and Pennsylvania ran wild against Cornell, scoring almost at will to gain a 49 to 0 decision.

In the West, Nebraska clinched the championship of the big six with a victory over Kansas Aggies, 8 to 0. Butler sent Tufts back East smarting under a 26 to 3 defeat. Marquette and Drake won from Iowa State and Creighton respectively, by scores of 6 to 0. Oklahoma beat Missouri, 14 to 0.

Washington defeated Washington State 6 to 0, on the Pacific Coast, and Oregon University won from California, Southern Branch, 26 to 6.

GEORGIA TECH STAR HIT BY INFLUENZA

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Warner Mizell, star Georgia Tech halfback was in a hospital here today suffering from influenza. He was taken ill Wednesday and yesterday collapsed shortly after he watched, from the sidelines, while his team defeated Auburn, 51 to 0.

Officials expressed little hope Mizell could return in time for the annual contest with the University of Georgia, but believed he would be available for Tech's game with California at the tournament of roses Jan. 1, if officials here decide to accept California's invitation to the coast.

Western Battler In Debut Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Gerald Ambrose Griffiths, the western light heavyweight better known as "Tuffy" makes his eastern debut tonight in the feature bout at Madison Square Garden.

Griffiths, rated as one of the finest light heavyweight prospects in recent years, meets James J. Braddock, Jersey battler, in a 10-round fight.

Chavez, Rivers To Fight December 12

SPORTS INSERT FITE SCT

All the argument over who is the better man, Zenaydo Chavez, welter champ among the amateurs, and pride of Santa Ana, or Jimmy Rivers, of Fullerton, will be settled on the night of December 12, in the Orange county athletic club.

This announcement was made last night by Major Anderson, manager of the H. T. Foust arena.

The angling over the date for the match has ceased, the argument over weights has come to an end and both boxes have been signed, Anderson said.

Coast Fighter In Last Minute Win

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Apparently badly outpointed, young Jack Thompson, San Francisco Negro, who holds a 10-round knockout over Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, came back to knock out Sam Bruce, Buffalo Negro, in the tenth round of their bout here last night.

Thompson knocked Bruce over the top rope in the last round with only 32 seconds to go. Bruce was unable to get back. Weights: Thompson 141 1-2; Bruce 143 1-2.

BREAKS WIN

CHADRON, Neb., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Taking advantage of the "breaks' in their game with Regis College of Denver, Chadron State Normal won from the Colorado men here yesterday, 14 to 6. As the game neared an end, Chadron was forced to kick from behind her own goal line after they had stopped the Rangers on the 2-yard chalk.

WILLIAMS WILL START AGAINST FIGHTING IRISH

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—After three days of leisurely practice at Tucson, Ariz., Notre Dame's rambling football team will arrive here today for its game with the University of Southern California tomorrow.

The Irish come to play before 80,000 persons in the Coliseum, sold out weeks in advance and practically inaccessible at this late date even at scalpers' prices.

While betting for the most part continued at even money a slight trend toward the Trojans developed yesterday, almost entirely among U. S. C. sympathisers.

The Trojans will have fewer men on the sick list than for the past several games. Marshal Duffield, a quarterback, out with an injured shoulder, will be the only one not ready to play.

"Dynamic" Don Williams, probably will start his regular quarterback job but if his recent illness makes it impossible for him to stand the pace, Russ Saunders will replace him. Coach Jones has been working him at the position at every chance since Duffield was declared out.

Reports from Tucson were that Knute Rockne's men all were in excellent shape and had done only the lightest work on the Arizona gridiron.

The Irish took good care to keep their plays under cover in all their workouts and Rockne seemed content with short sessions devoted to a very little scrimmage, some drills and plenty of limbering up.

Rockne Predicts Defeat For His Irish Tomorrow

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 30.—(UP)—The outwardly pessimistic Knute Rockne and his Notre Dame football team left by train early today for Los Angeles, where the Irish play University of Southern California in an intersectional grid game tomorrow.

"It's going to be only a question of how much we can keep the score down," he declared too gloomily.

"We've played only in and out football this season and U. S. C. is one of the country's best teams," Rockne said.

Y TEAMS TO PLAY

The Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. basketball team will tangle with the strong Pomona Y. aggregation at the Santa Ana Y. gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock, it was reported here today. The Santa Ana team has been cleaning up on its opposition quite regularly. Glen Stockbridge is captain of the local basketers.

PRESTIGE OF EAST HELD AT STAKE IN TILT

By LES CONKLIN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—An earnest attempt is to be made at the Yankee stadium here tomorrow to restore the prestige of eastern football, badly shattered on the same greensward yesterday when the Oregon Aggies toppled New York University from the front rank of contenders for the Eastern title. The attempt will be made by the gridiron warriors of West Point, who have been running a neck and neck race with N. Y. U. for sectional honors.

Stanford will provide the opposition, and lots of it. Football as she is played on the coast as demonstrated to 40,000 fans yesterday when Quarterback Howard Maple of Oregon completed 15 passes out of 20 and his mates brushed would-be tacklers aside like flies. Twice that number of gridiron enthusiasts are expected to flock to the stadium tomorrow to see "Pop" Warner, coach of the Cardinals, unleash a fresh bag of tricks against the more orthodox style of play used by the Army. All seats were sold long ago.

If both teams are on their good behavior, a close, hard-fought game should result. The Cardinals looked like world-beaters in some of their starts this season, but broke out in a rash of fumbles against the University of Southern California and took a 10 to 0 shellacking.

The Notre Dame defeat is the only blot on Army's record. The cadets walloped one sectional champion, Nebraska, and walloped Southern Methodist, Harvard and Yale. The chief fear of the Army coaches today was that the team may have suffered a natural letdown after a gruelling battle with the Cornhuskers, just as beating Carnegie Tech took the steam out of N. Y. U.

"Old Fox," is bringing east one of the best coached and finest equipped gridiron squads ever to invade the Atlantic seaboard. The lads from Palo Alto are keyed up to concert pitch for their battle with Captain Lawrence (Biff) Jones' West Pointers. They should make it interesting for their Army rivals. It is going to be a hard fought, even battle from start to finish.

Pop Warner is one of the great characters of football. The quiet Western mentor has one of the finest brains of any football authority in the sport. Old timers will tell you Jop has introduced more formations into the sport than any other mentor. What is more, he has given the game a greater number of scoring plays than any other rival. In addition, his furtile brain has devised more ways of tricking rivals than any other in the history of the sport.

They still tell the story down at Carlisle of how Pop Warner's craftiness defeated one of Percy Haughton's greatest football machines. Carlisle was to play Harvard. The Crimson had one of its championship aggregations. Mahan, Brickley, Hardwick, Pennock and the other great Cambridge stars who succeeded in winning title honors for the New England seat of learning were included in the squad Pop's Indians were scheduled to meet. The latter knew the minds of his Redskins. He appreciated they would rather work on a trick to fool the white man than do anything else. Pop's job was to discover the trick whcih would get his warriors busy at work.

Warner scouted Harvard in a game at Cambridge. He discovered the Crimson linemen plyaed a "stand up, waiting" style of defense. This gave him his cue. He went back to Carlisle and gathered his Redskins around him. In a few words Pop told them the trick he discovered which would beat the "Palefaces." His pupils chuckled to themselves. Pop saw his advice had not fall on unfertile ground. He drilled his warriors in charging low and driving upward after their initial charge. the idea being for the Indians to first get under the outstretched hands of the waiting Crimson players and then carry them back out of the way of the Carlisle backs.

Instead of walking out on the field in their usual haphazard way the Indians raced out on Soldiers Field with fire in their eyes. They were out to take the scalps of a band of unsuspecting palefaces. The opening whistle could not sound too soon for the slaughter. A grin spread over the face of every Indian.

The Crimson coaches saw this intense interest on the part of Pop's warriors. They were puzzled. The game figured to be an easy one for Harvard. However, little did these mentors know how Pop Warner had his Indians drilled. Following the opening kick off every Indian was in his place to scalp his whitefaced rivals. The moment the ball was snapped Pop's warriors charged under the Crimson rush line with such ferocity that a big gain resulted. This was all that was necessary to prove to the Redskins that their trick would work. Carlisle beat Harvard in one of the biggest upsets of the year.

BOXING CHAMPS ARE FOOTBALL CAPTAINS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Winning the intercollegiate heavyweight boxing championship apparently is a necessary qualification for election as captain of the New York university football team. Leonard Galahad Grant, newly-elected leader of the N.Y.U. eleven, and Al Lassman, 1928 captain, both have won the boxing championship.

Grant has played at left tackle for two seasons. He is a graduate of Dean academy.

MERCHANTS TO MEET TEXACO BASEBALL CLUB

Baseball fans of the county will see a real baseball game at the Orange County Fair grounds park Sunday, according to advice being issued by Art Sullivan, manager of the Orange County Merchants' ball club. The merchants will take on the Texaco club of Long Beach in a Southern California Oil Belt league contest.

The Texaco club is one of the fastest baseball aggregations on the coast. Marty Griffin, former Boston Red Sox player, will do the tossing for the Texaco boys. Joe Huarte, well known Anaheim ball player, will stop them at short for the Beach tribe. The remainder of the team is said to be composed of some fast baseball company.

Either Bryan or Hall will start the game on the mound for the Orange county club. Bus Callan will do the receiving. The game has been called for 2:15 p. m. Several additional features have been secured to entertain the crowd, it is reported. Happy West, comedian, and Dad Clark, western entertainer, will be on hand.

Kitzmiller, Robinson and Stadelman stood out for Oregon while La Buckerie and Forster were best for the Bruins.

The game ended the Southern California conference season for both teams.

OCCIDENTAL WINS CONFERENCE TITLE

PASADENA, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—The Southern California Conference football title went to Occidental yesterday along with a 7 to 0 victory over Pomona at the Rose Bowl.

Both the Tigers and the Sagehens threatened in other periods but lacked the final punch necessary to put the ball over.

Schweizer and Eberhardt starred for the winners while Hartman stood out for Pomona.

The invitation from President W. W. Campbell of the University of California was received at Georgia Tech Wednesday. The college athletic board yesterday voted to recommend to the faculty that the Golden Tornado be allowed to make the trip.

After the faculty approves the invitation, which it is expected to do, Tech officials will take a telegraphic poll of Southern Conference members before it formally accepts. Permission for conference teams to play other than scheduled games is allowed only under a special ruling.

ARIZONA AGGIES DEFEAT REDLANDS

REDLANDS, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Staging a desperate but vain attempt to tie the score in the last two minutes of play, the University of Redlands football team went down to a 13 to 20 defeat at the hands of the Arizona state college of Flagstaff here yesterday.

Redlands played a passing game to score its two touchdowns, Arizona scoring its third and winning touchdown on an intercepted pass.

NEWSPAPER IS PRAISED FOR AID TO FARMS

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—The home town newspaper is the farmer's traveling salesman.

Such is the belief of Van Bernard, state assemblyman, member of the legislative water commission, and Sacramento valley farmer. He holds that farmers could market much of their produce in their own territory by judicious advertising in their community newspapers.

"If more farmers would tell what they have to sell or trade in the advertising columns of their newspapers, it would result in farm relief that is genuinely constructive," said Bernard.

"We hear much about overproduction these days, but I confidently feel that if farmers advertised their products like the big mercantile concerns that this overproduction menace could be greatly relieved. Large distributors use national advertising in leading magazines to create national demand. Why, then, should not the farmer spend a few dollars in his local newspaper to create a market at home?"

Bernard declared that much of the peach crop in jeopardy during the recent "peach war" could have been sold in Northern California if purchasers knew where they could go and buy the peaches and at what price.

"It's astonishing to note how many times we go into stores and buy products from other states," he said. "For example, a person came to me some time ago and asked where he could buy some California pecans. Now, the pecan growers of our section never thought of a local market, and consequently no one knew where to buy them.

"If the pecan growers, and almond and walnut growers, too, would have kept a little ad in their papers, the prospective local buyers wouldn't have been at a quandary where to purchase.

"We buy oranges here with a Los Angeles wrapper. Many of these oranges were grown in the northern California orange belt, shipped south to be wrapped and packed and sent back. We pay the shipping cost both ways, and howl because the price is so high.

"If we could look in our family paper and know where to buy home grown oranges, we could go there and get them almost off the tree, and be proud of purchasing at home.

"The power of the press cannot be over-emphasized, and I see no reason why farmers of California cannot harness this power by the use of effective advertising."

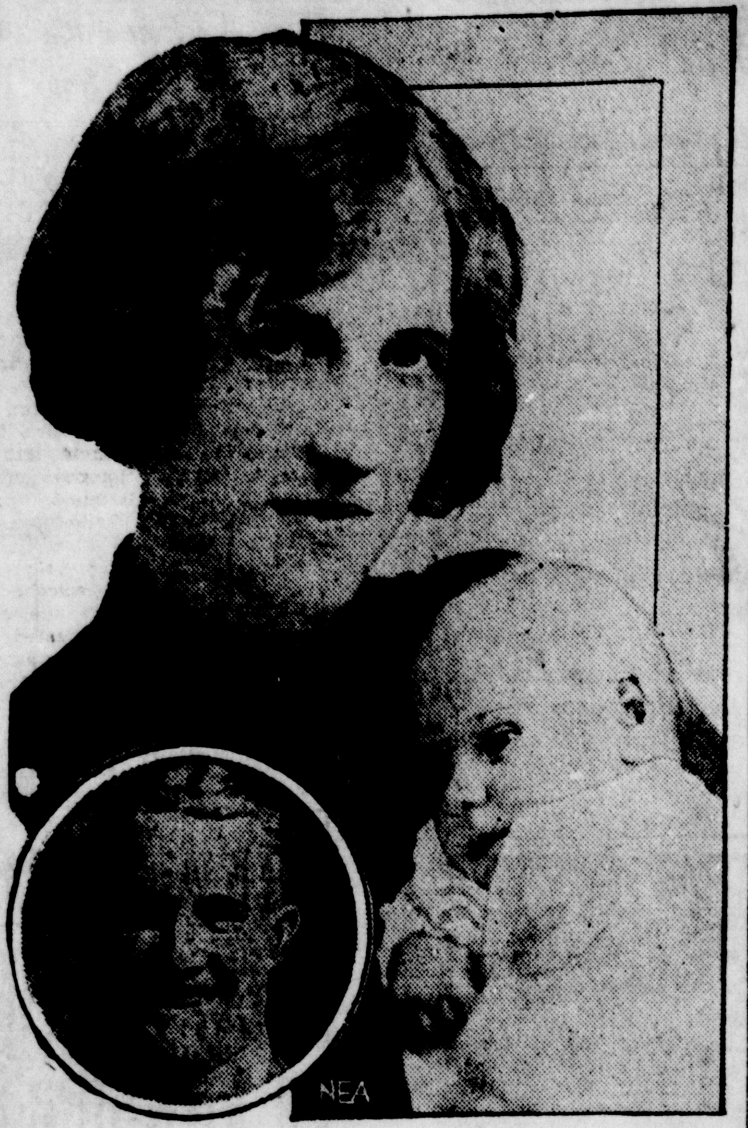
ATTACKED BY AX FIEND

After a series of sensational murders in Omaha, rivaling the crimes of Frank Carter, the "Sniper" of several years ago, a crazed ax-man invaded the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stribling. Entering by a back door which had been left unlocked, the fiend crushed Stribling's skull with a hatchet and, after Mrs. Stribling pleaded for herself and her baby, forced her to accompany him to an isolated swamp where he kept her until morning. The Striblings are pictured above. Stribling may live, despite his fractured skull.



VIENNA RENTS AS LOW AS 10 CENTS A MONTH

VIENNA, Nov. 29.—(UP)—An ordinary moving van is the only home which Johan Bac, a coachman, has for himself, a wife, and six children. Bac recently was ejected from his former home. There being no other accommodations available he transformed his few belongings into the discarded body of a moving van.

Bac's situation is attributed by many Viennese to the peculiar rent laws which have prevailed in Austria since the war. When the socialists succeeded in overthrowing the Hapsburgs and establishing a republic they simultaneously inaugurated an almost pure Marxian regime based on the old thesis that all property is theft.

Claiming that landlords had suffered less than the rest of the population in the deflation of the national currency and the prewar state loans the socialists passed laws which deprived the landlords of their rents.

Viennese who were fortunate enough to have an apartment at the end of the war are today in the peculiarly fortunate position of living almost rent-free. A conservative government has long since replaced the socialists in the national parliament, but so strong is the "pay no rent" idea at present that the regime could not be re-elected on a platform which advocated even half-honest rents. The landlords are a minority; and the tenant vote is the important thing politically.

Ten Cents a Room

Austrian landlords receive approximately ten cents per room per month. They can collect nothing else except the cost of cleaning and repairs. Tenants pay a slightly higher sum, but this extra money goes to the city for its municipal house-building program.

During the past five years Vienna, a socialist city, has built 30,000 apartments. Unless one is an organised worker and a faithful supporter of the socialist party, however, it is practically impossible to obtain one of these new dwellings.

During the same time Vienna has lost almost five per cent of its population. With more houses and less inhabitants one would expect that there would be a superfluity of empty rooms; but the exact opposite is the case.

Since they pay no rent for the empty house every Viennese who has a room to let holds it for months on end in the hope that some rich foreigner will arrive and pay well for it. Hundreds, possibly thousands, of apartments in Vienna are occupied by one or two people each. Other hundreds belong to people who have moved to other cities and are held simply because it is cheaper for the tenant to pay the rent for a whole year than to a week's hotel bill when visiting the city.

Persons who have no dwelling must pay someone who has such several thousand dollars for the privilege of mving in and obtaining the right to pay the landlord no rent. Coachman Bac apparently doesn't have either the necessary money to buy a flat in this way nor the pull to obtain one of the socialist municipal flats.

Husband Victim Of Thieves On Way To See Dying Wife

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Four thousand miles across the continent a mother and son today lay in a San Francisco hospital while the husband and father, robbed of his last penny, railroad tickets and all, faced a dreary Thanksgiving day in this city.

Police, Travelers Aid agents and other charitable organisations were exerting every energy to help Louis M. Henry, of Hartland, Me., who was a victim of holiday pickpockets while enroute to the Pacific coast, whither he had been summoned by telegram notifying him of the nearness to death of his wife and serious injury to his son in an automobile accident.

With $150 in his pockets and a ticket to Washington, D. C., where he would have made connections for the coast, Henry was jostled in a crowd at an elevated station. A little push, a slight tug, and when Henry patted his hip pocket a moment later his plans for a last word with a dying wife vanished as had the money.

CONFIDENCE VOTE IS GIVEN NEW CABINET

PARIS, Nov. 30. — (INS)—The chamber of deputies today accorded the newly-formed Poincare cabinet a vote of confidence by a margin of 385 to 195.

The vote was taken on a motion, opposed by the government, to suspend the budget session of the chamber to permit the appointment of a non-parliamentary expert committee, like that proposed to act on the revision of the Dawes plan. This expert committee would have been authorized to study the proposed budget with a view to reducing the war department's estimated requirements amounting to 7,000,000,000 francs, 793,000,000 francs more than the department's expenditures for 1928.

The proposal was defeated by the confidence vote.

Goalkeeper Will Be Traded Soon

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.—(INS)—Roy Worters, suspended goalkeeper of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has signed a contract but will be traded to Boston or some other National hockey league team as his own request, according to Benny Leonard, owner of the Pirates. The former lightweight champion revealed that the New York Americans are unwilling to part with the players whom Leonard wants in exchange for Worters.

The insignia of distinction at the week-end party

After all, what is it that makes for distinction? Certainly not any one thing. Rather a number of touches that, together, reveal the person.

For example, a fitted leather dress case bespeaks a definite sense of well-being, orderliness, and substantiality. Observed on the dressing table, or noticed at the week-end party—it is one of those things which are taken as an index of one's standing.

What a beautiful and thoughtful gift this makes for one you love, whose bright future you have at heart. We have a very comprehensive selection for you to choose from, in prices that range from $5.00 up.

WILL STRESS CHEST ACTIVITY THROUGH YEAR

At a meeting, this week, of the board of directors of the Community Chest it was determined that a concerted effort would be made to increase the community's interest throughout the year in chest activities and in the agencies of the chest. It was felt that only in this way could the chest develop into a place of importance in the community life that its activities deserve.

As the first step toward this it was determined that workers in this year's campaign should be asked to continue their efforts in the Community Chest and serve next year.

"We feel that in the Community Chest campaign this year," said President Whitson, "we have done a great deal in increasing the interest in chest agencies and we feel that the workers in the campaign have enjoyed their work and they will be willing to help next year. For this reason we are planning immediately to line up a skeleton organization for next year's campaign to carry through so that there will be a continued interest on the part of our leaders in the chest activities. We want to announce the campaign date sufficiently far in advance so that every club and social organization will clear their decks for the drive."

The board of directors authorized the statement that every effort would be made to make up the deficit in the chest budget in order that it will not be necessary for the agencies to curtail activities authorized by the budget committee when the chest budget was set at $51,630. Ways and means are being devised to meet the emergency and to provide for the full needs of the operating expenses of the agencies.

Officers Of L. B. Humane Group Named

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—Election of officers this week of the Laguna Beach Humane society resulted in Charles Philip Krauth being named president and Mrs. Krauth as secretary of the organization. George William Smith, former president, remains on the board, but resigned as head because of other duties which took his time. Maud Peek remains as treasurer and Ted Doering as vice president.

Others on the board of directors are Mrs. Mabel L. Frost and Mrs. Guy Bates Post, the latter recently added. Arrangements are being made for a new animal shelter.

Since it became active, the society has taken care of a large number of crippled or homeless animals and has had the co-operation of the police in its work.

HERE'S LATEST IN CAVALRY

The picturesque cavalryman of tradition may soon be only a memory, as a result of tests with a motorized cavalry unit made by the U. S. army. A detachment of seven armored cars, designed to replace the old-fashioned mounted troopers, completed a 2000-mile overland trip from Maryland to Ft. Bliss, Texas, and drew enthusiastic comment from officers in charge. Above is one of the light scout cars, fitted with two one-pounders that can be used as anti-aircraft guns if necessary; below is a heavier model, equipped with .30 and |50 caliber machine guns.

BANDITS INSULT LAW

UNION CITY, N. J., Nov. 30.—Yeggs don't usually stage holdups in the presence of "law and order." But five gunmen here refused to let a policeman interfere with their job of taking $700 from William Jenkins. The victim had stopped his auto and was chatting with the officer when the bandits came up and ordered Jenkins to "come across." The patrolman tried to interfere, but only lost his revolver for "butting in."

BOYS' HEALTH PROGRAM TO BE ARRANGED BY Y.

A special program of open air health activities will be inaugurated at the Y. M. C. A. Monday to help meet the situation created by closing the schools because of the "flu" epidemic.

At a meeting of the boys' work committee, this morning, plans were laid for a series of attractive and wholesome events for all of next week, the principal purposes of which will be to keep the boys happily occupied in out-of-door sports.

Boys' Secretary McKee stated that there will be games on the Y. playground and in the gymnasium every morning except Tuesday. In addition there will be hikes, bicycle trips and other outings for various groups during the week.

On Tuesday morning, while the women have the use of the indoor privileges, boys will use the playground and will engage in other outdoor activities. The game room and lobby of the boys' department will be open daily on a regular vacation schedule in order to avoid gathering in crowds.

Boys are invited to visit the Y. building at their earliest convenience so as to learn about the plans for the week and to arrange to get into as many of the games and other events as they may care for. The regular afternoon schedule of classes will be carried on as usual, with proper precautions being taken for the care of the health of the boys.

WILL DISCUSS PROPOSED NEW CONSTITUTION

Discussion and possible adoption of revised constitution and by-laws will be one of the features of the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county to be held in the White House cafe. in Laguna Beach next Thursday night, according to George Macleod, of Balboa, secretary of the county body.

Consideration of the revised laws has been contemplated by the chambers for several months and has been made a special order of business for the Laguna meeting. It was pointed out by the secretary that various amendments have been adopted during the last five or six years and that a redrafted constitution and by-laws would include these. It is understood that an amendment will be proposed increasing the annual dues from $5 to $10 for member organizations having memberships of 200 or more.

It is possible, also, that there will be discussion on educational matters, including the program for creation of a junior college district in the southern half of the county.

H. A. Lake, chairman, has called a meeting of the committee on education for 7:30 Tuesday night in the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce office and it is anticipated that the committee will report at the meeting of the county body in Laguna Beach. Other members of the committee are J. P. Greeley, Balboa; J. A. Prizer, Fullerton; J. A. Clayes, Anaheim, and W. B. Mandeville, Huntington Beach.

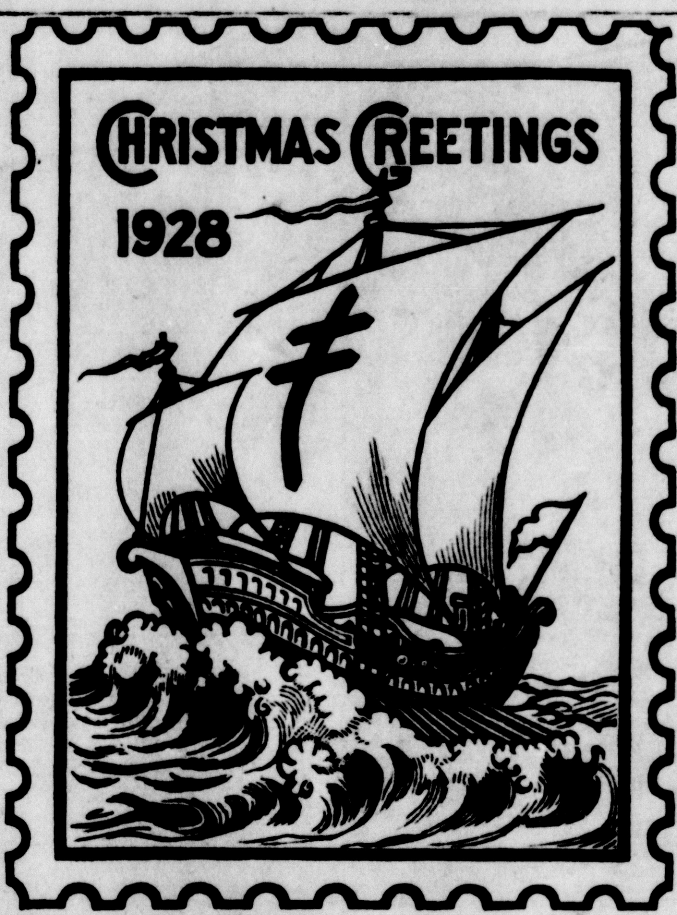
CHRISTMAS SEAL EMBLEM

Christmas seals distributed this year by the National Tuberculosis association represent ships with the double barred crimson cross of the association emblazoned on the mainsail.



OPEN CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE WITH $20,000 NEEDED TO CONTINUE ACTIVITIES HERE

According to the announcement by Mrs. Amelia Meagher, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis association, 32,000,000 Christmas seals are being mailed today to Orange county residents in the annual drive for funds for maintenance of association work here during the next year.

"On the generous response of the citizens of this community depends the continued operation of the open air school in Santiago canyon," Mrs. Meagher said, in stressing the point that in Orange county the Christmas seals makes possible the school where, at present, 29 children are enrolled, fighting their way back to health.

She said that $20,000 is the quota needed to keep the school in operation during the coming year. A staff of teachers, nurses and physicians are on hand to take care of the children so that they may combine their studies with their health activities.

It is said that the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut in half since the campaign of the state association started in California 14 years ago. It is estimated that 58,000 lives and $2,000,000 in economic values have been saved in that period.

READING TASTES VARY

PARIS, Nov. 30.—(UP)—As in America, tastes in literature in France have undergone a change during the past two years and readers are clamoring for scientific subjects, biographies and interesting travel. In fiction, sex topics still fill the bookstalls, but here again the scientific aspect of sexual problems—and abnormalities—are most popular.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 30.—It wasn't Joseph Havernick's fault that he didn't commit suicide. He called the undertaker and made arrangements for him to call for a dead body the following morning. He turned on the gas in a closed room and gave himself up to die. The undertaker found the body the next morning, but a pulmotor squad of the police department revived it.

Speeder Advised To Arrange For Brief 'Vacation'

Many times a motor cop will give the motorist the benefit of the doubt concerning the speed travelled along a Santa Ana street, but 60 miles an hour on North Main street was more than Officer Ed Lentz could put up with—so Merritt Thompson, of 415 East Fifth street, is due to appear before Judge J. F. Talbott on December 5.

Although his ticket called for an appearance on December 5, Thompson reported to the court soon after he was arrested and asked the judge to set the amount of the fine so that he could have the money by December 5, but the court refused, stating, it was said, that it might be advisable for Thompson to arrange for a few days' vacation.

Birthday Anniversary Is Chosen for Wedding

Choosing Thanksgiving day and the date of her eighteenth birthday anniversary for her wedding day, Miss Leota Ewing, daughter of Mrs. Dora McCall of 1404 South Main street, became the bride yesterday afternoon of Hugh J. Nipp of Anaheim at one of the prettiest of this season's ceremonies.

The impressive service was read by the Rev. B. J. Haywood, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Anaheim, at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Pio Menegazzo, 905 South Main street.

The living rooms had been transformed into a bower of flowers and an arch of graceful palm leaves and tall baskets of chrysanthemums marked the place where the bridal party was to stand.

The bride was becomingly gowned in blue satin crepe trimmed with Spanish lace and she carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. Her bridesmaid, Miss Ferdina Peters, wore pale yellow crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Dona Lee Hoskins, tiny niece of the groom, made a charming little flower girl. George Burroughs acted as best man.

A reception followed the service when dainty wedding ices and cake were served by Mrs. Menegazzo. Guests at the affair included Mrs. Dora McCall, Mrs. Addie Nipp, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ewing, Miss Velma Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. D. Peugh of San Diego, Mrs. Lulu Greeson of Los Angeles, Mrs. Gladys Happ of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koontz and baby of Anaheim, Henry Bremer, Louis Bremer and Miss Bernice Bremer of Anaheim, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hoskins, Miss Virginia Wray, Mrs. B. Margaret Smith of Lynwood, Mrs. M. E. Blue of Anaheim, Mrs. Clyde McWhorter.

Mr. and Mrs. Nipp left for a short honeymoon and on their return will make their home in Orange. Mr. Nipp is employed at the [illegible] Wiggly store in Fullerton.

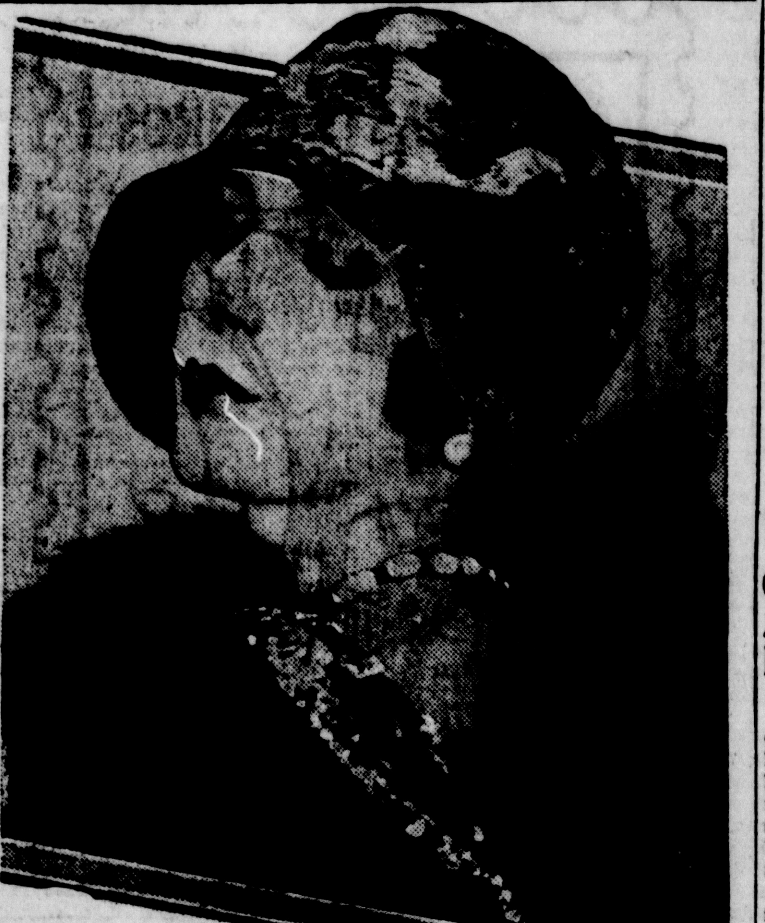
SHIMMERING ENSEMBLE

'Tis the style now to gleam and shimmer before sundown. A new afternoon costume of black velvet features a crystal and silver lace fichu collar, with somewhat low backline, and deep cuffs of the same gleaming combination. Topping it is a lovely new little hat, a silver lace creation with black felt upturned in folds at one side, and turning down at the other, lace lined for softness. The front pattern of lace is outlined in crystal to increase the soft shimmer of the lace. Earrings of square crystals and pearls and a necklace of square cut crystals complete the gleam and shimmer of the ensemble.



The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

NO SCOTCHINESS IN OUR BODIES!

Our habits of thrift in money matters are in direct opposition to storage habits of our bodies.

We save because we fear an uncomfortable old age. Not so the body, it lives from hand-to-mouth and takes no thought for the morrow as to whether or not its vitamines and mineral elements are forthcoming.

It knows that WE are well able to worry over that abstruse calculation and if we aren't, and feed it improperly, it kicks back like a mule.

Bodies aren't designed as vitamin storage tanks so the food supplied daily must take note of that fact.

An important nutrition authority says this:

"Two leafy vegetables and a salad or a baked tomato (canned answers just as well) once a day will take care of the vitamines, and also supply most of the mineral salts needed. Milk and good butter will provide the balance."

Many of those necessary vitamines are found in inexpensive vegetables.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Italian Macaroni Sauce

- 1⅓ pounds round steak, cut in small pieces
- 3 onions, chopped
- 4 carrots chopped
- 1 can tomatoes
- ⅛ cup dried mushrooms
- 1 tablespoon chopped garlic
- 1 tablespoon of salt and chopped parsley
- ¼ teaspoon cayenne
- 1 teaspoon each of nutmeg, cinamon
- ⅛ teaspoon cloves, thyme, majoram and sage.
- 2 tablespoons olive oil

Did you draw a long breath after reading this list? So did I, after writing it, but I have eaten this sauce and found it wonderful!

Heat that oil, cut the steak in tiny cubes and quickly brown, add the diced onion and cook tender. It can be covered and set back on the stove.

After the first cooking add all the seasonings, except the garlic and mushrooms, the diced carrots and tomato, and enough hot water to cover well.

Simmer for three hours, then add the mushroom, freshened in water, and the diced garlic (about 4 cloves is enough); add enough more water to make a thin gravy and cook for three-fourths hour longer.

Now comes the important part: Cook a pound package of macaroni tender, have a big cupful of grated cheese ready and a deep casserole.

Put in a layer of macaroni, sprinkle with cheese then a generous spread of the meaty sauce, and so on until the cheese and macaroni finish the top.

Brown in a hot oven for 30 minutes. Serve with a crisp green salad and a very light dessert and you'll feel like a couple of kings and queens.

Worthy Matron Hostess To Officers and Substitutes

Completing her year as worthy matron of the Santa Ana chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. W. R. Sylvester of El Modena, was hostess this week to her officers and substitutes at a delightful luncheon and bridge party held at the Rose Arbor Inn on North Main street.

Twenty-five places were laid at the one long table which was colorfully decorated in red, green and gold. At each place was a dainty gift from the hostess as a mark of appreciation for the co-operation that she has received from her officers during the past year.

Bridge was enjoyed for the remainder of the afternoon and the holders of high scores included Mrs. Maud Swarthout, Mrs. Minnie Pyle and Mrs. Imogene Reif. Each was presented with an appropriate prize gaily wrapped in glaze paper and tied with red, green and gold ribbons.

Mrs. Sylvester will act as installing matron December 10 when new officers for the chapter will take their chairs. She will be assisted by Elmer Smith, worthy patron.

Golden Wedding Honored At Thanksgiving Dinner

The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moses of North Hollywood was celebrated here yesterday at a charming dinner party held for them by their son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Russick of 1345 South Flower street.

Quantities of lovely sweet peas in pastel tints were used as bouquets throughout the living rooms and an especially colorful bouquet filled a crystal bowl which centered the table. Tall gold candlesticks which had been the gift of the guests to Mr. and Mrs. Moses, held lighted tapers and completed the table appointments.

As guests weer seated for dinner, a telegram congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Moses arrived from their son, Fred Moses of Leonia, New Jersey.

An interesting feature of the affair was that two of the guests Mrs. Rufus Churchwell and George Hibbard, had been present at the wedding of the honored guests when it took place half a century ago in Rochester, New York.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Russick, Mr. and Mrs. Moses, Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbard of Hollywood, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Churchwell, Hebert Churchwell, James Churchwell, and John Churchwell of San Bernardino, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas LePage and their four children of Littlerock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Berkland of 820 West Sixth street were hosts last night at a smartly appointed dinner party and bridge held at their home. The Thanksgiving motif was carried out at the dinner table which was centered with a large bowl of golden chrysanthemums.

Bridge tallies, representing turkeys, further carried out the idea. At the end of the evening scores were added and it was found that J. F. Roads and Miss Cornell Swain held high scores and each was presented with an appropriate gift.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Berkland were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. M. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Roads and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Berkland, and Miss Cornell Swain.

Many Families Choose St. Ann's Inn For Dinner Parties

The sedately beautiful lawn at St. Ann's Inn was transformed into an old fashioned "back east" farm yesterday in order that the many dinner guests at the inn might feel that their surroundings were appropriate for the serving of the delicious, old fashioned, Thanksgiving dinner.

Hay, poultry, shocks of yellowed corn, round golden pumpkins, baskets of red apples, and quantities of other vegetables and fruits which marked the Thanksgiving day of the Colonists of long ago all added to the rusticity of the setting.

The spacious lobby of the inn was also especially decorated for the occasion with autumn flowers and greenery enhanced by the use of strings of gay red chili peppers. The same brilliant colors were used in the dining room appointments.

Many Santa Anans entertained their guests at the inn yesterday. Hosts at these affairs included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Otis, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Nau of Tustin, Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Oakes, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Mit Phillips, Mr. and Mrs A. P. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lair, and Miss Amy Moore.

Other guests came from all over the Southland to partake of the delightful turkey dinner. They were H. K. Tutty and party, Mr. Hollingsby and party, Robert McCall and party, S. H. Cole and party, Mrs. Skinner and party, Dr. C. S. James and party, W. A. David and party, W. D. Moriarty and party, Mr. Lesser and party, S. V. Burnside and party, W. F. Little and party, J. A. Deatheridge and party, Dr. Stohr and party, C. W. Drais and party of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Walter Allen and party, Mrs. S. B. Williams, S. A. Sundgren and party of Hollywood; Mrs. H. P. Hammond and party, Altadena; Mrs. H. M. Handy and party, R. A. Jacobs and party of Pasadena; Mrs. Inex Stinson and party, Charles Durkee and party, George U. Shipley and party of Long Beach; Mrs. A. A. Halsey and party of Sierra Madre; Dr. A. YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

This is the season for coughs and colds. There is something particularly "grippish" about the chill damp air of November; also it is harvest for those germs with long unpronouncable names that attack the bronchial tubes and lungs.

Among children the head cold is commonest. Often after a few days it will dry up and disappear. Again it will "go down," tighten up in the bronchial tubes and chest and cause distress and violent coughing.

At this stage I should watch a child very closely. If he begins to look droopy, refuses to eat, and seems hot and feverish I should call in a doctor at once. A mother is usually quick to sense any symptoms that are unusual.

If the cough appears to be of the ordinary run a little home nursing likely will be all he needs. Camphorated oil is splendid rubbed well into his neck and chest at night and covered with a soft woolen cloth pinned firmly with safety pins to protect his nightclothes and the bed covers, also to keep his throat warm.

I do not believe in chest protectors for day time. The clothing should be warm enough and of proper cut to protect delicate organs. Extra things such as sweaters and chest protectors worn indoors have a tendency to make a child tender and more susceptible than ever to colds. Of course if the weather is extremely bitter and a school room not heated to the desired 68 or 70 degrees correct or indoor temperature, the matter of the sweater may be left to a mother's direction. One cannot give advice in any case of exception.

As far as that goes, no child with a cold should be allowed in school either. But how impossible that would be in a climate like ours when colds are as common as sparrows on a fence rail.

A good physic is never wrong treatment when a child has a cold. Indeed good old-fashioned castor oil is about as good a cold knocker as can be found.

Rest is necessary too. Send the child with a cold to bed early. And see that his window is wide open—but be sure to protect him from draughts. Set a screen between his bed and the window. If the weather is bitter the room air may be slightly warmed. But fresh air is absolutely necessary.

In avoiding colds, never allow a child to go out into cold air right after a warm bath. If he has had a warm bath and must go out, see that he is rinsed with cold water. The colder it is the less susceptible he will be to cold.

After a cool rinse he should be rubbed vigorously with a rough towel to start circulation.

FISHERMAN HELD AS HAMMER MURDERER

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 30.—(INS)—Frank Hintz, 36, a fisherman, was beaten to death early today with a hammer, and James Bingham, 43, also a fisherman, held on a charge of murder, has confessed the crime, according to police.

According to Bingham's confession, Hintz had been too friendly with his wife, Elinor Bingham. When he returned home early this morning and found Hintz there he quarreled with him, Bingham said he picked up a machinist's hammer, pursued him into the bathroom and beat him to death.

On October 9, Bingham had hintz arrested on a charge of assault and battery. Mrs. Bingham was arersted at the same time for possession of liquor.

Thanksgiving night the Tinies said, "We're surely glad to go to bed. The turkey we have eaten simply filled us to the top. We're all as tired as we can be." The hunter shouted, "Look at me? Why, I have eaten so much food, I fear that I will drop.

"Come on now, we are wasting time. Beneath the covers we'd best climb. We all will have a good night's rest and feel tiptop once more." He led the Tinies off to bed, and when their little prayers were said, they dropped deep into slumber and began to loudly snore.

All through the night they slept real sound, and when the next day rolled around, the hunter called them from their beds to eat some oats and cream. As Clowny dressed he laughed and said, "I'm glad that I am out of bed. All through the night I tossed around and had a crazy dream."

"Why, so did I," another cried. "It seemed that I was trying to hide away from some big turkey that was nipping at my nose." "That's 'cause you ate so much, I guess," the hunter said. "I must confess that I, too, had a dream, and quite a queer one, goodness knows."

By now the morning meal was through. The next thing that the Tinies knew, the hunter took them to the woods, and started looking 'round. They wondered what 'twas all about. Then suddenly they heard him shout, "Ah, look here, little Tinymites? A buggy I have found."

And, sure enough, 'twas there to see. A buggy, old as it could be. The hunter shouted, "Help me take these wheels off, if you please." "All right," cried Scouty, "But what for?" "Oh, I've a big surprise in store," replied the friendly hunter. Soon the wheels came off with ease.

(The big surprise comes in the next story.)

(PREPARED REVIEW)

Put down another dramatic bulls-eye for Richard Barthelmess!

The First National star has added another histrionic classic to his recent "The Patent Leather Kid" and "The Noose," in "The Wheel of Chance," the film version of Fannie Hurst's short story, "Roulette," which opened to enthusiastic acclaim last night at the West End theater.

In "The Wheel of Chance" Barthelmess enacts a dual role, each one a clear-cut character delineation worthy of being placed alongside his finest portrayals. The contrasting study of the two roles, that of twin brothers, presents a startling new phase of the acting ability of Barthelmess, who has proved in a series of rare portraits his right to the top niche on the ladder of Thespis.

The story of "The Wheel of Chance" relates the dramatic adventures of twin brothers, separated in childhood by a trick of fate, and meeting again twenty years later in one of the most dramatically conceived scenes in the history of motion picture. To tell more than this would be to take away the thrills and enjoyment in witnessing "The Wheel of Chance."

Alfred Santell, who also directed "The Patent Leather Kid," has invested "The Wheel of Chance" with excellent production and dramatic values. There is genuine heart-interest here and careful manipulation of passion and repression. From beginning to end, the interest is tense. An excellent treatment of the Hurst story was done by Gerald Duffy and the photography is of a caliber in keeping with the high standard of the film.

Barthelmess, as usual, has been surrounded with a superlative cast including Lina Basquette, who did such fine work in "The Noose;" Margaret Livingston as "the other woman;" Bodil Rosing as the delicately etched mother! Warner Oland as the father; and other important roles played by Spec O'Donnell; the little twin boys, Ray and Roy Berendzen; Jacob Abrams; Ann Schaeffer; Charles Clary, Joseph Girdard and others.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Vitaphone again works wonders in "Beware of Bachelors," the Warner Bros.' Talking Picture, which comes to the Walker theater today for a run of two days. Wonders begin with the story itself, which is sprightly and amusing enough to create a furore even if discreetly silent, as was the fashion of the screen until recently.

Sound does to the clever story what they sound of a fiddle does to young feet! There is the symphonic accompaniment which is just what it should be—there are sounds—and there are the voices of the players, raised in altercation, deprecation, laughter, bantering, merry pandemoniums of youth and misunderstanding.

The story is from the facile pen of Mark Canfield; Robert Lord did the screen adaptation and Roy Del Ruth wielded the megaphone. The cast is headed by one of the most popular romantic movie teams of the day—Audrey Ferris and William Collier jr., who are cast respectively as the rebellious flapper bride and the gallivanting hubby. Others in the cast are Clyde Cook, Andre Beranger, Dave Morris and Margaret Livingston.

"Beware of Bachelors" details the startling ways by which said flapper bride gets even with said gallivanting husband, by setting his lady patients at odds—flirting and creating teapot tempests.

YOST BROADWAY

"Waterfront," the First National farce comedy of life around the docks which comes to the Yost Broadway theater tonight with Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall in the stellar roles, is an adaptation of a story by Will Chappel and Gertrude Orr, both of whom gained first-hand information of harbors and ships as newspaper reporters. Chappel and Miss Orr learned their journalism around the San Francisco harbor district, the locale of their story, while Tom Geraghty, who made the screen adapation, was a ship reporter in New York for a number of years.

In addition, a number of members of the cast have had actual knowledge of maritime affairs. Mulhall, himself, was in the United States Navy as was Ben Hendricks, who plays a prominent supporting role. Knute Ericson who portrays a tugboat captain was cabin boy on an ocean liner before deserting for a life on the stage. James Bradbury Sr., another member of the cast, claims his only knowledge of water was learned as a member of a show boat troupe on the Missisippi long ago.

TYPHOON SWEEPS IN ON NORTHERN LUZON

MANILA, Nov. 30.—(INS)—After remaining stationary in the China sea for four days, the typhoon which took a heavy toll in lives and property in the central Philippines suddenly veered east and swept in on Northern Luzon, according to word received here today.

All communication from the latest area to be struck by the typhoon, including the town of Baguio, has ceased.

Weather bureau officials believe that Manila is in no danger of being engulfed by the hurricane.

Meanwhile, Gov. General Stimson, after organizing relief activities in Manila, is preparing to go to the provinces in the central Philippines to make a personal inspection of the situation.

As the typhoon swept in from the China sea, an S O S was received from the British steamer Ramsay, which is aground at Cagaan De Misamis, on the northern shore of Mindano island. Rescue ships were immediately sent to aid the grounded ship.

Talk was of this and that, some city business but mostly just of the Pacific northwest. The mayor of Seattle stated he was on a vacation and being in Southern California decided he could not return home without seeing Ole Hanson, Thomas Murphine and other friends of former days.

Mayor Edwards left for Coronado, where he will spend a week before returning to Seattle.

ONLY 80,000 people can crowd into the Los Angeles Coliseum where the football teams of the University of Southern California and Notre Dame College meet to settle old disputes on this coming Saturday. Only 80,000 people can see the game as it is played. As many more radio enthusiasts throughout the great Southwest will eagerly follow the game, play by play, as it is broadcast from the Coliseum. And more than 20,000 residents of Southern California, owners of Majestic Electric Receivers purchased within the last six months, will be able to enjoy the big game from their own firesides. They will be particularly fortunate in that their Majestic receiving sets will probably give them a better idea of what is going on at the playing field than any other radio receiver on the market within hundreds of dollars of Majestic's price.

The now famous Majestic Dynamic Power Speaker will reproduce for them, with all the attendant thrills, the cheers of the thousands of spectators in the rooting sections...the yells of the undergraduates...the music of the school bands. And, when Williams breaks through for a long gain or completes a spectacular pass, the life-like tone of this amazing radio receiver will bring all the pent up enthusiasm of thousands of delirious football fans into their homes, without distortion...without loss of volume. And, better still, the efficient Majestic Power Apparatus is so sturdily built that it cannot fail at the most interesting point of the game. Majestic owners will have their 50 yard line seats from start to finish...comfortably seated in their own homes...and with no traffic jams to contend with when the gun sounds at the end of the last half.

Majestic will build 1,200,000 electric receivers in 1929. More than 50,000 Southern California radio enthusiasts will purchase Majestic next year. Any Majestic dealer will, NOW, and without pressing you to buy, demonstrate the exclusive features that have been responsible for Majestic's spectacular success.

U.S.C. HOMECOMING TO BE BROADCAST

Listen in, ye U. S. C. alumni who will be unable to attend the home-coming tonight on the university campus, in Los Angeles, for you are not to be allowed to suffer.

Station KHJ, Los Angeles, cannot bear to have a lot of disappointed men and women throughout the Southland bemoaning the fact that they are being "left out," so has made arrangements to broadcast the whole affair, starting at 7 p. m.

Dr. Harold J. Stonier, alumnus and educational director of the American Institute of Banking, will be master of ceremonies and, following selections by the U. S. C. band, will introduce Howard Jones and Knute Rockne, coaches of the Trojan and Notre Dame teams, respectively, which will engage in a slight argument on the Coliseum turf tomorrow afternoon.

Other speakers, all prominent in Southern California, also will be introduced and all have been warned to bear in mind that tomorrow is "football day" and to govern their remarks accordingly.

ANNOUNCE PROGRAM OF WRIGLEY REVIEW

Stirring strains of Massenet's "Parade Militaire" will herald the opening of the Wrigley Review at 6 o'clock tonight, Pacific standard time, in the broadcast through NBC system stations throughout the United States from New York City. The Review will be broadcast for a half hour each week, beginning tonight, instead of the usual hour. KFI will rebroadcast.

Massenet is further represented by the Gavotte from his opera "Manon," while Grieg's gentle "Berceuse" is another number by a noted composer which will be played.

A complete list of selections to be heard during the Review follows:

Baker; male duo, When Polly Walks Through the Hollyhocks Woods; orchestra, Berceuse, Grieg; novelty trio, Climbin' up the Golden Stairs, Anon.; accordion solo, Dizzy Fingers, Confrey; orchestra, Gavotte—"Manon" Massenet; soprano solo, Until the Dawn, Clay Smith; male duo, Long, Long Ago; orchestra, Spanish Dance No. 1, Moszkowski.

FREE WEDDING PARSON

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 30.—It doesn't cost so much to get married, after all, not if you let Squire George L. Zimmerman, of Morrisville, do it. "Instead of paying me," he recently said, "those whom I marry can take the fee and use it for their homes or other essentials. It will be a day and night service, for I will answer telephone calls or perform the cermony any hour of the 24."

M'NAMEE WILL BE ANNOUNCER AT ARMY GAME

Graham McNamee, veteran NBC sports announcer, will be at the "mike" for the play-by-play report of the Stanford-Army football game, broadcast from the Yankee stadium in New York City, tomorrow, through a coast-to-coast hookup of NBC system stations.

The game will begin at 10:30 a. m., Pacific standard time, but McNamee will be on the air with preliminary descriptions at approximately 10:15.

Pacific coast fans will be enabled to follow ever play of "Pop" Warner's Stanford Cards in their important intersectional tilt with the Army. The cheering of the crowds, the playing of the bands and all the side-line atmosphere will be brought to those who tune in.

Stations on the Pacific Coast broadcasting the Stanford-Army game will be KFI, Los Angeles; KHQ, Spokane; KOMO Seattle; KGW, Portland; KGO, Oakland, and KPO, San Francisco.

KPLA will broadcast the U. S. C.-Notre Dame game from the Coliseum, in Los Angeles, tomorrow afternoon. Although the game will not start until 2 o'clock, Ernie Smith, the announcer, will start his description, etc., at about 1:45. The broadcast will be heard on a nation-wide network.

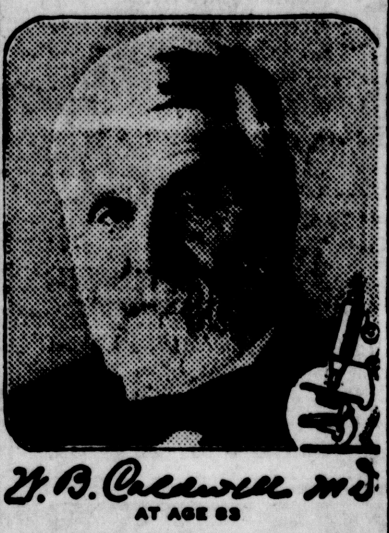
Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started the practice of medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plenty of plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.



W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year prove that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles, or use this free coupon:

RURAL SCHOOLS MAKE ADVANCE IN EDUCATION

By ED JOHNSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 29.—(UP)—There is an experiment going on in California and its results may mark one of the most radical steps forward since education was taken out of the hands of the church.

The bewildering problem of equipping the entire civilized world with the ability to get the most out of life is admittedly no small problem.

California's solution is typical of the state. Just now this solution is under consideration by 12 leading educators from the neighboring state of Oregon. They are members of a group from the county and state educational units who are visiting the rural experimental schools of Miss Helen Heffernan of the California division of rural education.

The problem which has faced educators since public schools became so numerous and so large has been one of making individuals instead of identical automatons. Not until the student reaches high school was there any selection of the courses he might study. Then each person taking the same subject was pushed through at the same rate of speed and offered the same viewpoint.

Educators realized this danger. In most places there was nothing to be done about it.

Not so in California. Miss Heffernan, convinced of the merits of "pack education" criticism, has established schools in rural districts in which the principle of individual education is tested. Six of these schools have been working on that principle long enough to be declared absolute successes. Others are being organized in various parts of the state at this time.

The schools now in existence are Langenaur, Yolo county; Wyandotte, Butte county; Old Shasta, Shasta county; Wood and Escalon, San Joaquin county; and Palmdale, Los Angeles county.

There is little discipline necessary, the children realizing their responsibility and conducting themselves accordingly. Each student is observed to determine his aptitude for particular subjects and is allowed to pursue these subjects at his own speed.

Equal emphasis is placed on the individual needs of the child and his social development. The fundamental purposes are to train for individual responsibility, initiative, co-operation, independent thinking and social living.

Man Locks Jaws When He Sneezes

REDDING, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Beat this, if you can, for a sneeze:

Lester Thompson, recovering from the flu, sneezed so hard he locked both jaws. Try as he might, he could not move them.

A physician was summoned, and pronounced it a double dislocation. He snapped the jaws back into place, and Thompson's face is again in working order. But he is still careful when he sneezes.

Heir To Fortune Is Thief, Charge

RENO, Nev., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Although he is heir to a fortune of $250,000, Robert K. Kelly must face a charge here of stealing $50 from a sleeping friend.

Kelly admitted "rolling" his partner, police said, but explained that he intended to pay the money back when he collected his legacy.

The prisoner produced documents, letters and telegrams to prove he will enherit the fortune from a wealthy Arizona mining man.

SHOCKED INTO WRITING

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A school boy at Cambridge has been shocked into learning how to write. Try as he would the youth simply could not get the idea until a specially constructed electrical device was attached to his desk. He was given a steel pen and instructed to write between lines on a cardboard. When he touched the lines there was a buzzing noise; if he went outside the lines a bell rang; when he gripped his pen too tight he received an electric shock in the back of the neck. After six monts the experiment proved successful.

COMMUNISTS IN FIGHT AGAINST 'RIGHT' TREND

By EUGENE LYONS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—(UP)—Less than a year after the crushing of the Opposition headed by Leon Trotsky, the Communist party of the Soviet union is mobilizing once more for a finish fight against a new internal opposition, described here as a "Right tendency" or "Right moods" in the ranks of the party.

Everyday the outcries against this "danger to Party unity" grow louder and more bitter. Party branches not only in the industrial centers but in the remotest corners of the Union are passing resolutions condemning the tendency and pledging support of the official policies.

The Communist Party mouthpiece, Pravda, declares in a headline that the Right tendency at the present moment represents a greater danger than Trotskyism, which has been unmasked."

It is impossible to gauge how strong this opposition may be. From the vigor and extent of the denunciations that now fill the press, however, it may be surmised that the tendency is widespread. According to the Communist leaders themselves, if it is not checked, it may acquire undue influence.

The hasty suppositions which are likely to be made abroad, however, that the supremacy of the Communist Party is threatened may be discounted in advance. Unlike the Trotsky opposition, which was organized and well generaled, the Right sentiment is vague and scattered, and seems to have no leaders of nationwide importance.

In a sense it is wrong to call this opposition new. The "Right" pressure for compromise with the anti-specialist elements has existed from the beginning of the Revolution. But until about a year ago, with the Trotsky elements still in the organization, it was not a serious menace to the Communist Party. Trotsky's agitation on many issues, and especially on the peasant question, exerted a powerful Left counter-pressure.

The elimination of Trotsky and his followers gave the Right more influence. But still it was a negligible factor until stimulated by the serious difficulties with grain in the past year. Primarily it strengthened the hand of those who wanted to give the well-to-do peasant greater economic freedom of development.

The Right opposition, of course, has not presented any clear-cut program. It is too disorganized to be capable of such a program. But the general demands may be deduced from the resolutions and speeches denouncing it. The Right tendency asserts itself in two main propositions:

First: That the government relax its attitude against the "kulaks" or rich peasants, giving them the right to develop their holdings, raise more grain, etc.

Second: That the tempo of industrialization be slowed up, permitting the manufacture of goods which the population needs immediately even at the expense of heavy industry which will support socialism eventually.

ARKANSAS HAS TROUBLE WITH EVOLUTION ACT

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 30—Knowledge as to the degree of enforcement to be applied to the new Anti-Evolution law of Arkansas seems to be suffering from the same thing that delayed the fiction-honored "slow train."

Although the bill specifies that man always was as he is today and that none shall teach to the contrary, varied schools of thoughts as to just what the framers of the law meant have sprung up.

Obeying the law to the letter, so some contend, bars all standard reference sets from Arkansas schools and publication of an Encyclopedia especially adapted to Arkansas needs would be a costly procedure.

But the educators have discovered a method of staying between the cross fires of those wanting strict enforcement and those wanting enforcement with moderation by passing the buck.

Questions, for the most part, as to which books shall be barred will be referred to the courts and enforcement of the law determined by judicial opinion.

Defying the law, Dr. Frank Vinsonhaler, dean of the medical department of the University of Arkansas, declared he would ignore the anti-evolution act.

"We shall pay no attention to the law," Dr. Vinsonhaler said. "I do not anticipate any trouble. I feel that no attempt will be made to enforce the measure."

Boyd Cypert, prosecuting attorney, said his office will not take the initiative in the enforcement of the law, and only those cases in which information was filed would be prosecuted.

"I shall not hunt any violations," he said. "Nor will I attempt to interpret the law until officially called upon to do so. There are too many angles for me to mix up with it unnecessarily."

And thus, Arkansas' efforts to rid itself of the talk of monkeys as their ancestors may have brought them a white elephant.

BIGGEST WEDDING PARTY RECALLED

WEAVERVILLE, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—California's biggest wedding party was recalled here this week, when alterations were made on the famous old Oliver Luddington home, erected at Big Bar in 1854.

Thirty couples were married at the same time in this dwelling, back in the early sixties. In these days many white men had Indian common-law wives. The United States government issued orders that all these women must either marry or go to the Hoppa Indian reservation.

The wholesale wedding resulted. It was performed by Justice of the Peace John Carr, who read the ceremony as he stood on a large packing box in the center of the room.

WAVE ACCURACY IS AIM OF U. S. NAVY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—To improve communications and to prevent interference, Capt. S. C. Hooper, director of naval communications, has recommended that all navy radio stations measure the frequency of their transmitters at least once every four hours.

The navy should set the standard for commercial interests in accuracy of frequency adjustments, Captain Hooper says. The need of correct transmission will become increasingly important, he asserts, as more commercial stations are put in operation.

"At present the navy in general is not maintaining frequency adjustments as accurately as is considered practicable, judging from the measurements taken and from reports of interference," he said. "Practically all radio men at any station should be able to take measurements and know how to make the necessary adjustments."

FOLSOM GANG RECALLS LAST YEAR'S BREAK

BY HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

FOLSOM PRISON, Calif., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Alone in "the dungeon" with their memories, six Folsom prison convicts celebrated the first anniversary of California's bloodiest revolt.

As the shadow of the gallows drew nearer their cells, the six youthful gangsters grimly recalled the Thanksgiving outbreak a year ago that ended with 13 men dead—11 convicts and two prison guards.

But "It won't be long now," they laughingly remarked to the guards who brought them the holiday meal of roast pork, cranberries and rice pudding.

The men awaiting execution for slaying "Red" Baker, a convict trusty, are James Gregg, Fresno murderer; Albert M. Stewart, Los Angeles burglar; Jimmy Gleason, Alameda robber; Roy Stokes, Los Angeles burglar; Walter Burke, Sacramento theater robber, and Tony Brown, San Francisco holdup man and leader of the group.

It was Stewart who turned "squealer" at the subsequent trials, and disclosed evidence that sent the entire sextet, including himself, to the gallows.

None of last year's holiday spirit prevailed at Folsom today, however. There was no assembly, no program, and no movie. It was during the showing of the movie, "Angles Preferred," that the break occurred.

Headaches gone—
Blood pressure normal

If you can't exert yourself without being short of breath, if your head pains, if you can't even lie down with comfort—then life hardly seems worth while. That is how things appeared to a woman who wrote us about her trouble with high blood pressure. She took Agavel. She later says: "My blood pressure is normal. No more headaches. I can now sleep. And actually feel like smiling." Letters like this are received every day.

What is Agavel? A great natural health food. The sap or milk of the Mexican Maguey plant concentrated by removing excess water. Nothing added. Extraordinarily rich in important minerals and other vital elements necessary for the proper adjustment and functioning of the body. A vital food. Not a medicine. Non-alcoholic. Why not start the day right?

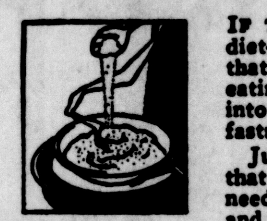
Healthful breakfasts can and should be the most appetizing



IF THE fiber foods are so important in our diet—and food authorities impress upon us that they are—why not start the day right by eating them for breakfast? They can be made into the most delicious and satisfying breakfasts imaginable.

Just think for a moment what foods it is that furnish the bulk and fiber that our bodies need so badly. They are: bran and cereals, and fruits and vegetables, all but the last being ideal for the first meal of the day. What is more tasteful and beneficial, for example, than cereal with milk and sugar? What is more delicious for breakfast than grapefruit, sweetened to taste, or apples or pears sweetened and baked? Nearly everyone enjoys apple sauce or stewed prunes or other dried fruit with the morning toast and coffee.

Note that sugar is mentioned in connection with each one of these healthful foods. Sugar is the ideal flavor that Nature has provided, thus enabling people to enjoy the kinds of foods that are best for them.

One fact cannot be stressed too much. All growing children should eat hearty breakfasts of bone and teeth building, body developing foods such as the cereals, milk and fruits. Proper sweetening makes children relish the foods that their growing bodies need so badly.

Eat varied healthful foods, so sweetened that they are delicious and enjoyable. The Sugar Institute.

Only in ★ HILLS BROS Coffee can you get the flavor that Controlled Roasting gives ★ Hills Bros. roast coffee with the same care you add cereal to boiling water.

You can expect lumpless cereal if you pour it in the boiling water a little at a time. And you can get coffee of uniform flavor when every berry is roasted evenly. That's why Hills Bros. send a continuous stream of coffee through their roasters a few pounds at a time. Never in bulk!

To taste Hills Bros. Coffee proves the value of this exact process. Such richness! Such smooth strength! Such aroma! Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Hills Bros. Coffee is always packed in vacuum.

Fresh from the original vacuum pack. Easily opened with the key.

THREE LOTS ON BAY PURCHASED FOR NEW PLANT

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 30.—One of the largest boat building concerns in the east is to locate on Newport bay, it was announced here today. Bruce V. Crandall and Son, with boat building establishments on the Great Lakes and on the Atlantic seaboard, selected Newport harbor as a location for a Pacific coast branch of their business.

Definite announcement of the location here was made today, when a deal was closed by W. L. Jordan, local realtor, in which Bruce V. Crandall, senior partner of the boat building concern, purchased three large lots with more than 120 feet of bay front. The property is located on the upper bay near the bridge which enters Newport Beach at the Arches crossing. The property is located near where an oil well was torn down recently.

Crandall is drawing plans and specifications for a large boat building factory, which will be constructed at once. The company is shipping more than 20 of its boats to the Pacific coast and all will be brought to Newport harbor for storage pending the completion of the boat shop here.

A consideration of approximately $20,000 was involved in the sale of the property, according to reports. Crandall and Son will spend several thousands of dollars in improvements on the property and will employ a large force of men in the plant, although no definite announcement has been made.

Crandall, who is at present residing in Pasadena, plans to make his future home on the Pacific coast. He will return to Rhinelander, Wis., in the near future to look after business interests before returning here.

LAGUNA GIVES PLAYS TONIGHT AND SATURDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 30.—Three one-act plays comprise the offering of the Community Players to be given tonight and tomorrow night at the Community club under the direction of Mrs. Guy Bates Post.

The first of these is the comedy "A Quiet Game," with Irvin Couse and Virginia Thurston taking the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Bidwell, and with Carlos Navarro and Grace Ryerson taking the parts of Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle.

"Roses of Judea," written by Mrs. Louise T. Gerdine, and which received honorable mention in a nation-wide contest, is a religious play. Mrs. Gerdine has been in Laguna to assist in the presentation of her play. The parts are taken by Miss Annie Gayne Peake as Mary, Ruth Walters as Rhoda, Evelyn Riddell as Koum, Robert N. Bowen as John C. Addison Van Loenen as Nathan and Charles J. Barnes jr. as Peter.

The third of the trio of plays, "Rendez-vous," has Gretchen Schwinn as the boy and Halmar Forrest as the girl, with Frank W. Cuprien as the gardener. It is a fantasy set to music, Edith Mabel Patterson being the singer.

WANT BUILDING SOLD TO REPAY $115,000 LOAN

Involving approximately $115,000 which is believed to be the largest sum ever specified in a suit to foreclose a mortgage here, the Western Loan and Building company today started court action against C. E. Hamlin and W. R. Moore, seeking a commissioner's sale of property at Fourth and Bush streets in order to recover this amount, alleged to be due and unpaid. Suit was filed through Milburn Harvey, of Harvey and Harvey, Santa Ana attorneys.

According to the complaint, Hamlin and Moore gave a first mortgage note to the Western Loan and Building company on the property Sept. 12, 1927, the amount being $115,000, with interest at 10 per cent. Starting Feb. 16, 1928, the defendants were to pay $1380 monthly until 140 payments had been made, the complaint stated.

The total amount paid by the defendants was $3289.44, the complaint said, and asked judgment for $114,566.45, with interest at 10 per cent, from June 16, 1928. It was stated that, after the alleged default in payments, the loan concern had elected to exercise its privilege of declaring the whole amount due. Hamlin and Moore also failed to pay taxes and assessments, amounting to $3950.01, which the plaintiff paid, the complaint said.

In asking the commissioner's sale, the Western Loan and Building company requested that the amount alleged to be due be declared a lien against the property and that it have judgment for any deficiency which might still exist after the sale.

A number of other parties were made defendants in the case and it was asked that the title, interest or lien claimed by them be declared subsequent to the claim of the plaintiff.

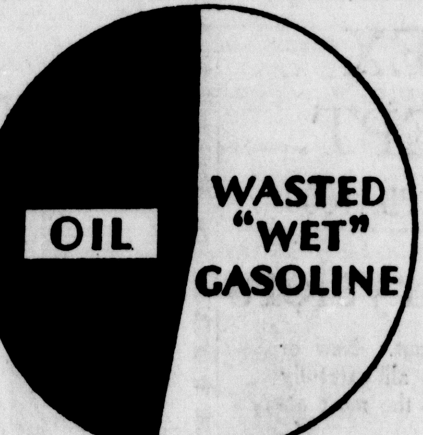
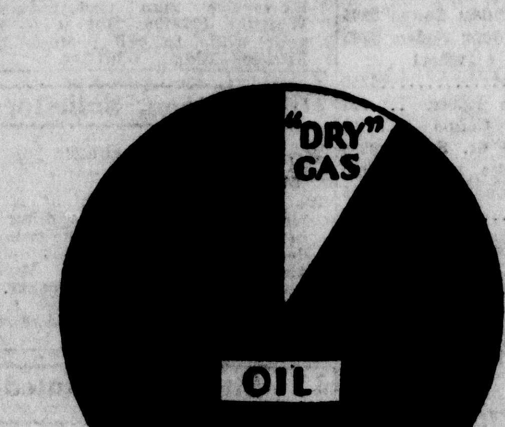
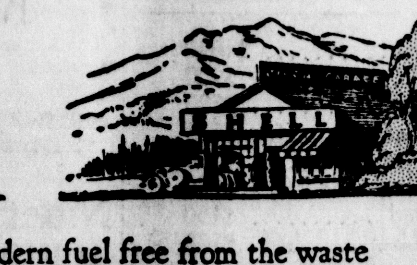
So needless
...So wasteful
to use "WET" gasoline
when dry gas is everywhere convenient!



A thousand miles of ordinary driving with "wet" gasoline and your oil is likely diluted more than half—thinned beyond use as a lubricant. Note this analysis of old crankcase oil — 54% gasoline!



A thousand miles with "dry" gas and there is very little crankcase dilution—here is a diagram of a typical test: Gasoline 9.2%, lubricant 90.8%—a decided fuel and oil saving over "wet" gas



Thoughtlessly, many motorists still use ordinary "wet" gasoline.

Perhaps many of them haven't learned that "wet" gasoline doesn't vaporize completely, can't burn cleanly. It floods down the cylinder walls into your oil, wasting the fuel you bought for mileage and power, ruining the lubricant value of the good oil you put in the crankcase.

So needlessly, too! For there's a "dry" gas now. Exact refining eliminates the heavy "wet" fractions from it and gives you a modern fuel free from the waste and harm of "wet" gasolines.

You pay the same for it as for ordinary gasoline, yet you get more, for more of it goes into power, into miles. It is dispensed from thousands of yellow and red pumps conveniently located everywhere. No other kind of Shell gasoline is sold.

Shell 400, the "dry" gas, is already known and used by hundreds of thousands. And it is winning new users as fast as they learn how easily it prevents crankcase dilution.

SHELL 400 The "DRY" GAS

And about oil: There's an oil now that forms no hard, flinty carbon. If you would avoid the endless troubles caused by carbon, and "add thousands of miles to the life of your car," insist on SHELL MOTOR OIL whenever you buy

STILL THE PRESIDENT'S ARMISTICE DAY SPEECH

Ever since the delivery of the speech on Armistice Day to the American Legion, the country has been discussing the meaning of it. It was such an unusual utterance for the President to make. The tone of it was so much more belligerent than has been the usual habit of Mr. Coolidge. It was not clear, and it is not yet clear, just what provoked it. In this country, it has given rise to all manner of speculation. Abroad, it has stirred up considerable resentment. Perhaps the coming session of Congress will reveal the mouse in the meal.

There are those who believe that it was a part of the program to get the Kellogg Peace Pact through the Senate, that the big navy crowd which could easily muster the one-third vote necessary to defeat the Pact has issued its ultimatum, and that the president has been frightened into supporting the big navy program. Some support is given that belief in the statement of Senator Borah that he will no longer oppose an increase in the navy. There are others who believe that the President was getting tired of the heckling being indulged in by our foreign critics, so that the time was ripe for a curtain lecture which would be sufficiently explicit and emphatic to call a halt.

But much more significant is an unguarded statement made by Wickham Steed, the English journalist, violating the precedent that the president must never be quoted, who intimated that the president in an interview had said that in the crucial time the American navy and the British navy may be expected to work together. Just what that may mean is a matter of varying conjecture. It may be recalled that when President Wilson asked Congress to repeal the Panama tolls bill so far as it concerned favors to American shipping, he stated that he could not tell the reasons why that repeal was imperative, but that they must take his word for it. There were those who were not slow to infer that there was an existing understanding between the American and the British governments. The statement of Wickham Steed would seem to add color to that inference.

There is something mysterious about the president's Armistice Day speech. That mystery may be cleared up during the coming session of Congress. The peace forces of the country are gathering to put themselves heartily and passionately behind the Kellogg peace pact. If it means that its ratification must be paid for with the passage of the big navy bill we are in for a merry fight. It would be a calamity if the peace pact should fail because it is linked up with a totally different measure. Having originated with our government, and having been worded by our State Department, the defeat of the pact would place our country in a most ridiculous light before the whole world. We hope that the public opinion of the country will find such strong expression that the Senate will be made to feel that another League of Nations and World Court impasse would damage the moral standing of our country before the world.

In St. Louis the other day Miss Irma Mason, 18, married Henry Auer, 76. Maybe she merely wanted to improve the shining Auer.

A STROKE OF GENIUS

The events along the route of President-elect Hoover's itinerary vindicate his wisdom in making this trip. These various people are giving Mr. Hoover a fine reception. The fact that he has thought enough of their countries to make such a trip is of itself a means of great good will, and it will be helpful in the future. For the coming four years, in our relation with all of our southern neighbors, this journey will be recalled by the President, and under its inspiration he will also be able to consider the problems in the light of neighbor viewing a neighbor.

Mr. Hoover will return fit for his duties, the country will have settled down from its excitement over the campaign, the deserving supporters of Mr. Hoover will be able to view their own claims in a calmer atmosphere, and all in all the trip shall have proven very beneficial.

With the faster means of travel which we are developing, it may be that future presidents-elect may have to travel further and faster than Mr. Hoover has done to escape the importunities of their fellow citizens. But this can be easily arranged.

Some people have criticized the expense incident to this cruise, but the benefits derived will outweigh the expense many-fold.

Only a couple of weeks now and we can send those incense burners we got last year to some of our frinds.

STILL GOING STRONG

It is interesting to note that a machine has been developed for the breaking of the smallest particle in nature, an atom. This device is an electrical generator capable of producing electric pressure of 5,200,000 volts. This voltage would be dangerous to produce outside of a laboratory.

While some men are devoting their time and thought to the discovery and examination of the microscopic, and manufacturing machines for such purposes, others are developing the largest ships and locomotives and the biggest machinery to do astounding tasks. With this range of effort, investigation, and invention encompassing that which is the smallest in nature, as well as the unlimited systems in the universe which will be discovered by the larger telescope, it would appear that the challenge to man's genius is approaching its finality.

The theologian will philosophize and speculate as to when the end of this dispensation may be expected to appear. It seems to us probable that as long as there is possible further development for man's study and intellectual powers in the hidden [illegible] and motion of the universe, there will be reason for the continuance of the present world.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR SPEAKS HIS MIND

In the December Harpers, the family doctor at last breaks forth in behalf of his group against the specialists. There is no hedging and no smooth speakings. Against the charge that the family doctor makes mistakes he cites the mistakes made by the specialists,—mistakes quite as serious and indicating quite as much ignorance and incapacity as that charged against the general practitioner.

To our thinking the family doctor makes out a good case for his group. That there are many calls made upon the doctor which require only a minimum of knowledge and experience, that there is a bond between the family doctor and his patient which makes the family history much more clear to him than to the impersonal clinic examiner, that in the multitude of examiners there is a tendency to lose the sense of personal responsibility which the family doctor feels for his patient,—all these matters indicate that there is still a large sphere for the family doctor. The writer does not minimize the need of the specialist or the clinic, but he is emphatic, and justifiably so, in holding that there is still a very essential place for the family doctor. William McClure, Ian MacLaren's "Doctor of the Old School," is too useful to be relegated to the scrap heap.

The War Department says that enlisted men of the Army drank 51,000,000 cups of tea last year. Must be getting ready to invade Great Britain.

WHOM DID PENNSYLVANIA ELECT?

The question as to whether Vare or Wilson is the actually elected Senator from Pennsylvania is still before the Senate Elections Committee. There is no chance of a decision before January.

If this was a Congressman instead of a Senator the period for which the election was had might elapse before it was fully determined who the successful man was. Maybe there is some wisdom in the plan of not taking office until the March following the election in November. It takes time, in some cases, to learn who is elected—this of course depending, as a rule, on the amount of money that is spent in the campaign.

"The Funnies"

San Diego Union

Newspaper comics are not as bad as they are printed. That is the conclusion reached by "Children, the Magazine for Parents," and described in its current issue. Mrs. Florence Yoder Wilson, author of the article, adopted a basis other than that commonly employed by critics of the comic supplements. Instead of studying the "funnies," and from them trying to imagine the effects they might be expected to produce in young and innocent minds, she collected all known instances of actual study of the effects themselves. The studies seemed to show that the appetite for comics was perfectly spontaneous, natural and innocuous, and that no ill effects in conduct had been recorded.

The average critic of the comics, examining a picture of Chester setting off a giant firecracker under the chair of his father, the Hon. Andrew Gump, is apt to conclude that the picture will stimulate in young readers an impulse to blow up their elders. He will thereupon assail the funnies as calculated to inspire crude, impolite and unethical conduct. Mrs. Wilson's method was merely to try to find out if, in actual experience, that casual sequence obtained. It did not.

The principal of one public school reported, for example, that a careful inquiry among grade-school teachers did not reveal one instance in 20 years wherein a harmful practical joke was inspired by reading of the comics.

Any fastidious adult can find arguments to prove that the crudity of the comics ought to have a terrible effect upon the morals and manners of young readers; but apparently finding that terrible effect, in actual existence, is not so easy.

Turn Warships Into Peace Fleets

Pasadena Star-News

Something very wonderful and inspiring is being symbolized in this good-will tour of Herbert Hoover, President-elect of the United States. He is going to Latin America in a great warship. On the Atlantic side of South America he will be met by another great warship and in it will visit other countries of Latin America. The whole scheme is emblematic of the attitude of the United States—an attitude of peace and good will toward all nations and peoples—particularly toward the nations and peoples of this Western world.

The fact that Herbert Hoover, a man of peace, representing a great Nation that is committed to peace, is traveling in a warship is all the more impressive and significant—as it denotes most emphatically that the United States maintains armament solely for defensive purposes, and that it has no aggressive designs upon any nation or any people in any part of the world. The greatest warships of the United States might start tomorrow for any ports in the world, and there would be no fear of perturbation—because the whole world knows that the United States would not use its naval power to provoke hostilities or to prey upon any nation or people.

Hence, there is nothing inconsistent in a mission of peace and good will going from the United States in a great naval vessel. The world interprets American warships as messengers of peace, unless the grim emergency should arise requiring the use of these mighty craft to defend the United States against hostile attack.

Flying to a Football Game

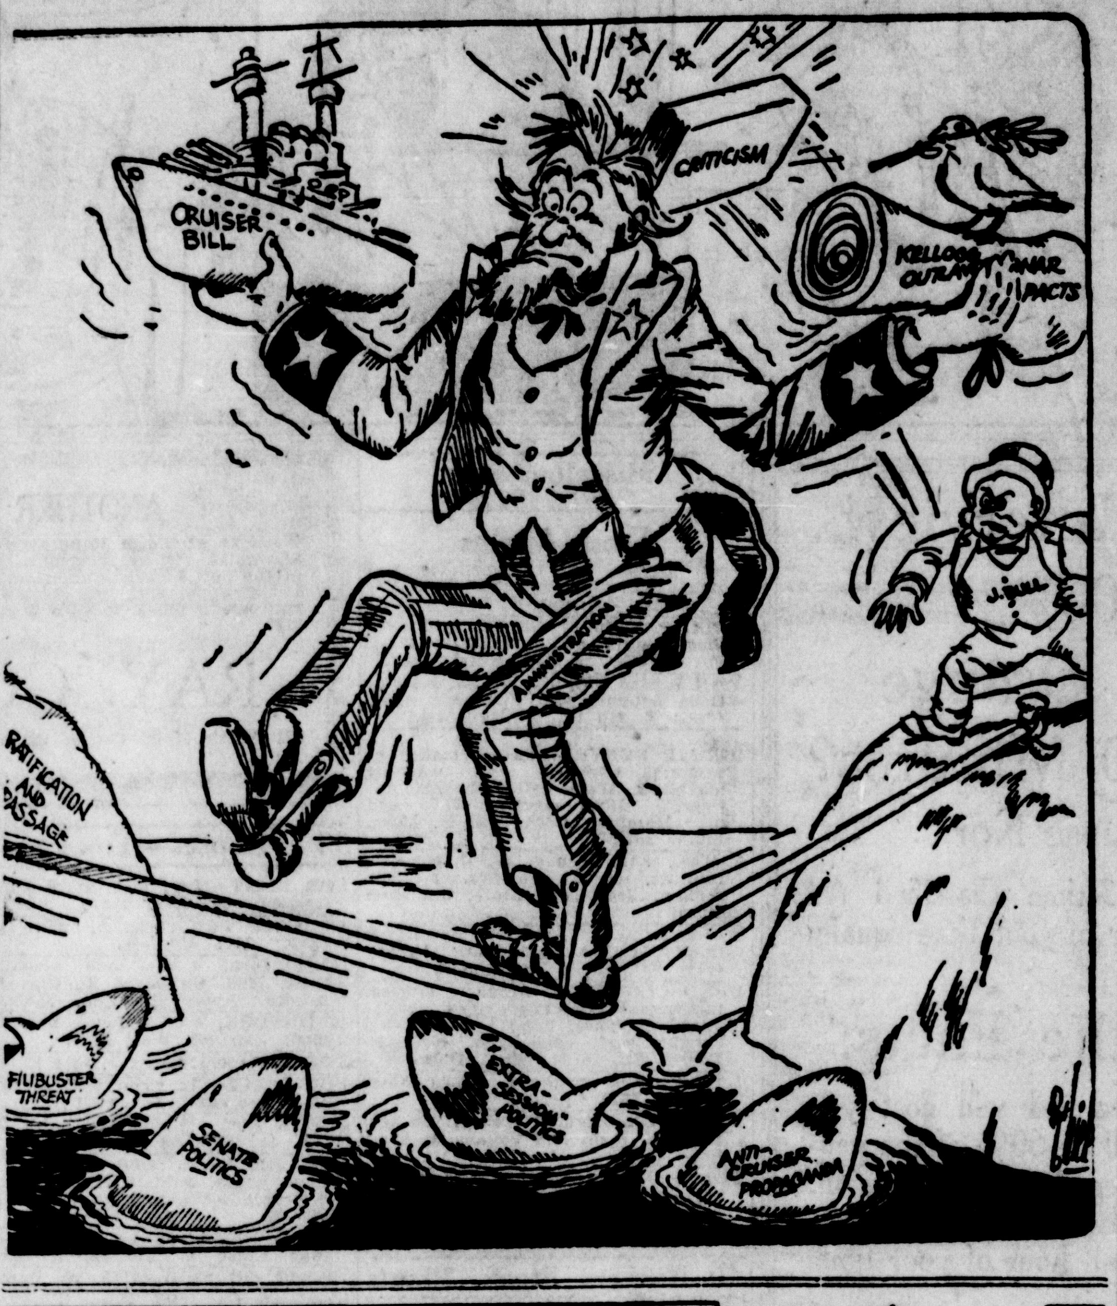
New York Times

Nowadays a college president feels obliged to take football seriously. President Hopkins of Dartmouth was alarmed by the report that Coach Jess Hawley and Supervisor of Athletics Heneage were planning to fly to Chicago, where Dartmouth plays Northwestern.

President Hopkins strove to infuse humor into his letter of protest to Mr. Henage though it was with a heavy heart he sat down to the typewriter. He did not wish to appear dictatorial, but felt "called upon to protect the event in all possible ways." Without Hawley and Heneage, if the plane were to take a nose dive and crashed, there would be no hope of winning the football game. The hazards of flight would be too great. If these leaders so precious to Dartmouth must fly, "Prexy" Hopkins with a wry smile suggested that they proceed in different planes.

The classic example of a flight to a battle ground is that of Tunney, who disregarded the pleas of Tex Rickard and went to meet Dempsey.

If the Big Act is Anything Like the Rehearsal It's Gonna Be a Great Stunt!



More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE DREAM PEDDLER

When even bats nave gone to bed,
And not a sound is heard
Among the tree-tops overhead
Of katydid or bird,
When little stars, with prickly beams
Are slyly peering down.
A pyxie hurries round with dreams
For every child in town.

His step is softer than the rain,
His form is light as air.
He passes through a window pane
As if it were not there.
He stops an instant by a cot
Then takes his silent flight
Far swifter than a rifle shot
Out yonder in the night.

The very nicest dreams, I'm told
He carefully will save
For children who are good as gold
And never misbehave.
But I don't think that's how it's done,
Like love he must be blind,
And therefore always leaves the ones
That's easiest to find.

But if till late you lie awake,
As foolish children do,
You may be sure he'll never make
A single call on you.
But hurry with a noiseless tread
His nightly trust to keep
With children who, when once in bed,
Go right straight off to sleep.

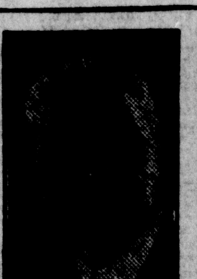
Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk



By Dr. Frank Crane

THE OTHER WORLD

When you sail out across the sea you wonder what all that waste of water is for. It stretches away for miles and miles.

Days at a time you cannot see even another ship. Water, water everywhere, clear to the horizon.

And they say that three-fourths of the earth's surface is ocean.

We think we people who live on land, and those that sail across the sea in boats, are the whole thing.

Man thinks that the universe is made for him, but Mr. Pope says that the goose thinks the same thing.

It is stated that there are more living things under the water than in the air. It is not unreasonable to suppose that whoever made this earth thought the denizens of the sea were more important than the inhabitants of the land. Else He wouldn't have made so many of them.

Curious about that other world! People drown when they are submerged in the water, and those things that inhabit the water generally drown when they come up into the air.

This shining surface over which my boat is sailing is a silvery curtain separating the two worlds, the world of fishes and the world of men.

No man can go down into the home of the fishes and live very long. When Mr. Fish comes up into the air we all live by he dies shortly.

Perhaps that other world of spirits, of which much is imagined, is like that. No spirit has been proved to mingle with men. This atmosphere of ours may be as fatal to it as to a fish. At any rate we know his atmosphere is fatal to us. No man has gone into it and returned to tell the tale.

We eat the fish when they are cooked, but the fish goes us one better and eats us when we are not cooked.

We have strange stories of mythical beings who inhabit the depths of the sea. Few believe them. We have equally strange stories of witches and mediums who call spirits out of the upper world. Some believe them.

But as far as we know our activities and acquaintances must be confined to this narrow stratum of the earth's atmosphere. We go below it into the sea, or above it, through the portals of death, at our peril.

Thoughts On Modern Life

THE ART OF NOT THINKING

In many ways the two most important things to learn are:

First, how to think.

Second, when not to think.

The other evening I introduced my friend, Albert Edward Wiggam, to a student audience, and in the course of his address he said: "Intelligence is the thing that enables you to get along without education; education is the thing that enables you to get along without intelligence."

A chuckle ran through the student audience.

Clearly the students thought Mr. Wiggam was playing horse with them, coining an epigram he did not expect them to take either literally or seriously.

It took the human race a long run of centuries, he suggested, to figure out the total of six times seven; finally somebody figured out a device known as the multiplication table; we learn this table and are able to say instanter that six times seven equals forty-two; we do not have to stop and figure out by laborious methods the answer; knowing the multiplication table enables us to know the total of six times seven without really putting our intelligence to hard work.

Education gives us a thousand and one such short cuts to answers to things.

Every time we can find such a short cut to answers to problems we must face daily, the more free our intelligence is for more important matters.

The more effective we are, the more things we do and decide automatically, without the conscious exercise of our thinking machine.

The effective man does not waste time and intellectual effort on anything he can handle by a dependable standardized device like the multiplication table.

And, again, the effective man does not feel that he must himself pass judgment on every issue in the world, in his immediate world, whether he is equipped to judge it or not; he knows when he should trust an expert.

In short, the effective man knows how to think, but he also knows when it does not pay him to think.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE WORST CHILD EVER

"That's all I have to say, Mrs. Strong. He's the worst child ever."

"It would seem so," said Mrs. Strong, just a suspicion of a quiver about her mouth. "Let's hope he'll change and be a new boy tomorrow."

"Let's," said Miss Martha grimly.

The worst boy ever was thirteen years old and he had justly earned his reputation. He had fallen into the river and in doing so had pulled in his playmate, who was sitting in the box-wagon, when he was four. He had pulled himself and his chum and the wagon out again, but nobody rembered that part.

At nine he had pushed the hose cart down hill into the river when the firemen turned their backs for an instant. He had raced to the top of the hill and turned on the main water supply at the resorvoir in time to put out the fire, but nobody remembered that either. Except his mother and she hated to mention it.

Now at thirteen he was about the last word in mischief. He had stayed behind his class in order to put some awful smelling stuff in certain places frequented by his enemies. He had been locked in the schoolhouse, had waited in hope of being released without notice until long after dark when he rang the school bell with all his might, brought the neighborhood on a run, jumped out of the first story window and raced for home. Today he had upset the waste baskets, fallen over a small child who scratched himself severely on the sanded floor. Got into trouble with Mr. Smeers, the grocer, because he took three apples for a nickel instead of two, saying they were not worth even that. When the principal came into his classroom to hear the class recite their history lesson he de-lib-er-ate-ly got down on the floor and pinched the legs of the girl two seats behind him and made such a disturbance that the principal said with stern dignity, "I'll go now and return when the class is in order." Imagine a teacher's feelings.

He walked sedately by his mother's side all the way home. Not a word was spoken either side. When they reached the house he said, "I believe I'll go to bed, ma."

"And a good thing," said ma.

He went to bed and stayed in bed for a long time for he was a very sick boy. Before he came down the stairs the whole neighborhood was begging him to sit up and smile, to come down street and DO something, the badder the better.

You see, sometimes, just SOMETIMES, there is an upheaval before the full onset of adolescence. And sometimes this upheaval does not come as a crisis but is distributed over a long period. No boy goes unscathed. Can you be a little patient, a little more long suffering, and call in the doctor? It might help that "worst child ever."
